1                   CHAIRMAN SOULES: Good morning,
2 everyone. It's about 8:00 o'clock, so we'll 3 get started. We're going to start with Elaine 4 Carlson's report, and she has got some 5 materials I think that are being passed out, 6 and if not, they are on the table behind the 7 Chair here. So Elaine, let me give the floor
8 to you, and you tell us, lead us where we need 9 to go.

10                   PROFESSOR CARLSON: All right.
11 This is the subcommittee report on Rules 737
12 to 813. You should have as the first page a 13 cover letter dated 11/6/95 from myself to 14 Luke, which is the report of our subcommittee.

15                   As you might know, those rules or that 16 range of rules principally covers forcible 17 entry and detainer, so most of the proposals 18 we have deal with that area of law.

19                   What you have in the packet before you in 20 addition to the cover letter, which generally 21 describes the subcommittee recommendations,
22 there's an Attachment "A," which is a 23 memorandum, a research memorandum from my 24 research assistant pertaining to an issue 25 we'll get to on the unauthorized practice of 1 law in forcible entry and detainer cases.

2 Attachment "B" is the red-lined version
3 of the rule. Attachment "C" is a disposition
4 chart that includes the current rule so you
5 can sort of compare what the recommendations
6 are. And Attachment "D" is a disposition 7 chart without the current version of the 8 rules.

9 I suggest you follow Attachment "C," the 10 letter, and the red-lined version.

11 The first problem we're dealing with, as 12 I set forth in this letter to Luke, is the 13 application of Civil Rule 4 to Civil Rules 739
14 and 744. To try and translate that into plain 15 English, Rule 739 provides for citation to be 16 served in a forcible entry and detainer 17 action, and the form of the citation is to 18 inform the defendant tenant to appear at the 19 time and place named in the citation, which is 20 to be not more than 10 days nor less than six 21 days from the date of service. And of course, 22 the landlord typically is trying to, in an 23 expedited fashion, get the tenant out based on 24 a breach of a lease agreement or something 25 like that.

1           Rule 744 allows the tenant to -- actually 2 it allows any party to demand a jury upon the 3 timely paying of the fee and the demand, and 4 it provides it's timely if the fee and demand
5 are paid on or before five days from the date 6 the defendant is served with citation, so the 7 scheme is pretty straightforward when you look 8 at the rules.

9           You have five days to demand. The jury 10 trial is not to begin until six days, six to 11 ten days after service of citation, so the 12 theory there was sound. The problem is when 13 we apply the counting rule, Civil Rule 4, 14 there ends up being a problematic area where 15 the action can actually go to trial before the 16 time to make the demand, and it's because of 17 the way we count.

18           You will recall that Civil Rule 4
19 provides two distinctive methods of counting 20 depending upon whether the time periods you're 21 looking at are less than five days or not.

22           The general rule under Civil Rule 4 is 23 that for time periods that are more than five 24 days, we know you don't count the day of the 25 event, the next day is day 1, and you do count

1 Saturdays, Sundays, legal holidays, and you
2 count the last day, and if that's a Saturday,
3 Sunday or legal holiday, you go to the next 4 day that isn't.

5 Clearly that counting method is what you 6 would use in figuring out the time you go to 7 trial under Rule 739, so that if we had 8 service of citation on a Thursday, for 9 example, and assume Friday, Saturday, Sunday, 10 and we have Monday as a legal holiday, you 11 would count Friday as day 1. Then we would 12 count Saturday, Sunday, right, legal holiday, 13 two, three, four. That would get us to 14 Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday would be our 15 day 6. So you can see how with that counting 16 method you could be going to trial by the 17 following Wednesday as day 6.

18 On the other hand, Rule 4 goes on to 19 provide a distinctive counting method for time 20 periods that are less, five days or less. And 21 in those instances, you don't count Saturdays, 22 Sundays and legal holidays in your 23 computation, and so -- unless it's exempted 24 out, because that's the third part of Rule 4, 25 is the exception to the exception rule. And

1 so that second part of Rule 4 in counting 2 would apply to the jury demand, that is, to 3 Rule 744, so that if -- again, which is 4 triggered by the date of service of citation.

5 Assume again that service of citation is 6 on Thursday. That's day 1. Friday -- 7 actually it wouldn't be day 1. Friday would 8 be day 1. Saturday, Sunday, legal holiday on 9 Monday we don't count. Tuesday would be 10 day 2. Wednesday would be day 3. Thursday, 11 day 4. Friday, day 5. We already went to 12 trial, and it was nonjury.

13 We can see that the problem is you're not 14 able to make necessarily the jury demand
15 before you go to trial on the forcible entry 16 and detainer, and so the solution to that is 17 to exempt from 744 our five-day counting
18 period, to exempt that from the five-day rule 19 and put it under the usual counting rule where 20 we count Saturdays, Sundays and legal 21 holidays. And if we do that, then we will not 22 have this problem.

23 In the materials that you have, it 24 erroneously states that we also recommend 25 exempting Rule 739 from Rule 4, and that's

1 just nonsense, because it already is not part 2 of it, so I apologize to you, but when you
3 look at Attachment "B," if you would, under 4 "Rule 4, Computation of Time," the very last 5 line, "for under Rules 739, 744," you need to 6 cross out 739.

7 And this last part of Rule 4 is the 8 exception to the exception which places the 9 five day or less counting period back on the 10 usual counting track.

11 Again, if you look at disposition chart C
12 and D, under the first one it says Rule 739, 13 and in the very right-hand column, it says
14 Subcommittee Action, adopt or reject, it 15 should read "Reject," because we reject that 16 proposal by Judge Till, because where you do 17 the fix, as I said a moment ago, is over in 18 Rule 744, where we have "Adopt" the 19 recommendation of Judge Lawrence.

20 And in fairness to Judge Till, who is not 21 here, what we had for his letter is in the 22 materials, but it's only one page and then it 23 sort of ends. I'm sure there was more, but we 24 did not have that. He may have gone on to 25 explain as Judge Lawrence did in his letter.

1           If you look at Judge Lawrence's letter in 2 your materials on Rule 910, in the last
3 paragraph on that page, Rule 4, Judge Lawrence
4 sets forth this problem. Judge Till echoes 5 the problem in his letter, as much as we have 6 it, on page -- just a second, 952 is Judge
7 Lawrence's, and 970 is Judge Till's.

8           CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Is 9 this a different -- oh, this is on page 910, 10 not Rule 910. Okay. It's still dealing with 11 the same rule, Rule 744?

12           PROFESSOR CARLSON: Yes. The 13 two together, 739, Luke, 744, and Rule 4.

14           CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

15           PROFESSOR CARLSON: Does anyone 16 have any questions or input on that?

17           CHAIRMAN SOULES: Your 18 recommendation then is, what, encompassed by 19 the red-lined rule suggested in your new 20 materials?

21           PROFESSOR CARLSON: Yes, as I
22 suggested.

23           CHAIRMAN SOULES: On Attachment
24 "B"?

25           PROFESSOR CARLSON: Yes, except

1 you have to cross out "Rule 739" because that 2 does not make sense. I apologize.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And why is 4 that again, Elaine?

5 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Rule 739 is 6 a counting period that's greater than five 7 days, so it already allows you to count
8 Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays, and you 9 just need to parallel that for the jury demand 10 on Rule 744.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Any
12 objection to adding 744 to the JP exceptions 13 to eliminating Saturdays, Sundays and legal 14 holidays and periods of time under five days, 15 five days or under? No objection. Okay.
16 That will be taken as unanimous consent to add 17 744 to Rule 4.

18 PROFESSOR CARLSON: All right.
19 The second item that --

20 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Can I ask 21 one question?

22 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Yeah.

23 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Are we 24 exempting all FE&D time periods from Rule 4
25 now?

1                   PROFESSOR CARLSON: I don't 2 think we can say that, Alex, because some of 3 the time periods, like 739, are greater than 4 five days. And Rule 4 really starts out with 5 the general rule for time periods less than 6 five days, then counting if you have a 7 five-day period or less and then an exception 8 to the exception.

9                   PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: I was just 10 wondering, I mean, this is not a proposal for 11 right now, but one thing about Rule 4, it says 12 this is the rule for every rule except for 13 these specific rules. But if you look at most 14 of these rules, they seem now to be forcible 15 entry and detainer proceedings, and I think we 16 might want to consider putting some words in 17 there like "forcible entry and detainer" to 18 catch people's attention that when you're 19 filing forcible entries and detainers that's 20 specifically where these exempt proceedings 21 are. I think that's something that would have 22 to be looked at carefully, but that's just one 23 thought I had, because when you have numbers,
24 people -- well, I glaze over numbers, but I
25 like words better. I would have both.

1 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Okay.

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Moving right
3 along. What's next?

4 PROFESSOR CARLSON: All right.
5 The second note in the letter to Luke is a 6 suggestion pertaining to service of citation
7 and forcible entry and detainers. Currently 8 Rules 742 and 742a, civil rules, provide for 9 service of citation and forcible entry and 10 detainer complaints and citations by an 11 officer. They're silent as to the ability to 12 have other authorized persons serve as allowed 13 in other JP, district and county court civil 14 proceedings, and by that I mean the JP 15 proceedings under the 500 series of rules, the 16 nonforcible rules. And our committee 17 recommends to delete the word "officer" and 18 include or substitute the words "sheriff, 19 constable or other authorized person," and 20 that would parallel the provisions in Rule 106
21 on who generally can accomplish service.

22 MR. LATTING: And that would be 23 who?

24 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Joe, that 25 could include anyone who the court authorizes

1 by an order. It could be an independent 2 process server. It has to be someone who is 3 independent, but the court has a great deal of 4 discretion on who that might be.

5 MR. LATTING: I'm just a little 6 concerned about starting the process to kick
7 people out of their house unless we're sure 8 that the person serving the citation is okay.

9 CHAIRMAN SOULES: You could 10 take a billion-dollar default judgment.

11 MR. LATTING: That's right.

12 PROFESSOR CARLSON: That 13 concern was raised, and we discussed it at the 14 committee, because that was raised by Joe Bax 15 of Houston, who -- we did not receive that 16 letter directly, but we happened to receive it
17 on another subcommittee that I sit on, so I 18 know that it exists, and I can probably track
19 it down in the 500 --

20 MR. LATTING: Well, I suppose 21 if the court has to authorize the person who 22 serves the process that there wouldn't be much 23 room for abuse. And I suppose that private 24 process servers are licensed, aren't they?

25 CHAIRMAN SOULES: No.

1                   PROFESSOR CARLSON: No. And I
2 understand that it's a practice that varies by 3 county, and the rule that provides for other 4 authorized persons does not state whether it 5 requires the court on a case-by-case basis to 6 approve an independent process server. And I 7 understand that in many counties there's just 8 a list, and these are the independent process 9 servers that are authorized by court order.

10                   MR. LATTING: But at least 11 they've cleared some kind of a hurdle where 12 it's not just the plaintiff who is taking care 13 of all of this and then representing to the 14 court that the process has been served?

15                   PROFESSOR CARLSON: No, it's 16 not a disinterested person without a court 17 authorization.

18                   HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Elaine, 19 have you considered the question as to whether 20 justices of the peace, which in some instances 21 are not very learned in the law and may be 22 subject to influences that an ordinary judge 23 is not subject to, whether a justice of the 24 peace can properly be relied upon to name a 25 responsible process server?

1                   PROFESSOR CARLSON: We debated 2                   that at some length, and I think that the 3                   views are very divergent, but we came out with 4                   the majority view that it seems to be working 5                   well in other courts. There, of course, are 6                   some other constitutional county court judges 7                   that need not be licensed lawyers either and 8                   they have that authority, so we just came out 9                   on the end of expediency, I suppose.

10                   I do want to point out to you the 11                   letters, though, that we received or actually 12                   that we found. On page 728 and 729 Joe Bax
13                   writes a letter. He represents a great deal 14                   of landlords, and he expresses the concern
15                   that Joe Latting just suggested; that in this 16                   kind of a proceeding, because we're basically 17                   throwing someone out of their house and home 18                   eventually through the process that perhaps 19                   independent process servers are not 20                   appropriate.

21                   MR. LATTING: Well, I'm not --

22                   CHAIRMAN SOULES: Let me try to 23                   get it this way just to try to cut to the 24                   chase here so we can get on with it.

25                   Rule 103 has safeguards in it that were

1 built into it when persons other than 2 constables and sheriffs were authorized to 3 serve process. We had to do that because I 4 believe it was in Harris County that they 5 quit. They wouldn't do it. The constables 6 and the sheriffs wouldn't serve civil 7 process. But 103 has some safeguards built 8 into it, so why don't we say any -- the 9 sheriff, constable or person authorized by 10 Rule 103 receiving such citation shall execute 11 it, so it's got to be a person that's 12 authorized under 103.

13 MR. LATTING: And you feel like 14 103 would keep it relatively clean?

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Can't be a 16 party, can't be an interested person, has to 17 be approved by the judge. They may be on a 18 general list, that's not been decided, but the 19 judge has to give some form of --

20 MR. LATTING: Well, my 21 perception has been that there is not a lot of 22 trouble with this.

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yes, sir, 24 there has been.

25 MR. LATTING: So I'm not trying

1 to nit-pick. All right. Well, I'd be 2 satisfied with that.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And there's 4 not a licensing, and the people that want the 5 licensing most are the process servers so that 6 they can close the circle of authorized 7 persons.

8 MR. LATTING: It's okay with 9 me.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And so we've 11 left it to the trial judges to say who can 12 serve their processes.

13 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: I would 14 like to ask whether we need a special rule for 15 justices of the peace with respect to service 16 of process, why the regular rules wouldn't 17 apply, and why they shouldn't apply?

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, you've 19 got these six-day rules and we don't have time 20 to overhaul the JP rules. We're probably 21 going to get a chance to look at that someday, 22 but there are different times here, Judge.

23 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Well, I'm 24 not concerned about the time, I'm concerned 25 simply about the service.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Let's don't,
2 please.

3 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Okay.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Bypass --

5 MR. PRINCE: Luke, I don't 6 think we ought to beat this to death, but do 7 you -- is there any need -- I agree with the 8 change that talks about who may serve under 9 Rule 103, but Rule 103 goes on and talks about 10 service by mail by the clerk, and I think the 11 rest of the JP rule makes it clear about how, 12 mechanically and physically how it's supposed
13 to be done, so I don't particularly read 14 that -- I mean, if you just incorporate the 15 people authorized in Rule 103, I don't read 16 that as a problem.

17 PROFESSOR CARLSON: And it's 18 really a policy decision. Judge Till felt 19 that he would not make the proposed change.
20 He would leave it with the sheriff or 21 constable. We received letters on both sides, 22 and the committee just came out, the majority 23 perspective was to allow authorized persons
24 envisioning the constraints of Rule 103.

25 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, Mike, I

1 don't see how the clerk could possibly serve
2 under 742, because it says it has to be -- you 3 have to deliver a copy to the defendant or 4 leave a copy with a person under 16.

5 MR. PRINCE: I understand. It
6 just says -- your suggested change is "person 7 authorized by Rule 103."

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Right.

9 MR. PRINCE: And you might 10 argue that the clerk is a person authorized 11 under Rule 103. I mean, I don't read it that 12 way, and it doesn't make any sense.

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: But the 14 method the clerk would use under 103 cannot 15 work under Rule 742.

16 PROFESSOR CARLSON: That's 17 right.

18 MR. PRINCE: Okay.

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. So
20 sheriff, constable or person authorized by 21 Rule 103 receiving such citation.

22 PROFESSOR CARLSON: I think
23 that's acceptable.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Any
25 objection? Done by unanimous consent.

1                   PROFESSOR CARLSON: The third 2 problem we address is raised by a justice of 3 the peace pertaining to what he perceives to 4 be an unauthorized practice of law. Civil 5 Rule 747a, and in the Property Code, Section 6 24.011, allow parties to an FE&D case to 7 represent themselves and to "be represented by 8 their authorized agent" "who need not be 9 attorneys."

10                   Judge Baker's letter on page 960A through 11 D points out a problem in that paralegals were 12 appearing on behalf of corporations or 13 sometimes tenants to represent them in 14 forcible entry and detainer cases, and he was 15 concerned on whether this constitutes the 16 unauthorized practice of law.

17                   The memo on Attachment "A" is some 18 discussion of our rules pertaining to the 19 unauthorized practice of law trying to 20 determine what the intent was. In enacting
21 Civil Rule 747a we talked to a number of JPs
22 pertaining to this, and the input we received 23 led us to believe that the fix on this would 24 be to clarify it by a comment to Rule 747a of 25 what seems to be the intent of the rule; that

1 an authorized agent for purposes of an FE&D on 2 behalf of the landlord should be construed to 3 be the owner, the employee of an owner, the 4 managing company hired by the owner or realtor 5 retained by the owner. For purposes of the 6 tenant, an authorized agent should be 7 construed to mean the tenant, the employee of 8 the tenant or occupant of the premises as 9 defined in the lease.

10 And this would prevent a paralegal or 11 someone who doesn't have the direct 12 employee/agent relationship by virtue of the 13 landlord or the tenant's business from 14 appearing on their behalf.

15 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Mr.
16 Chairman.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Judge
18 Guittard.

19 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: It seems 20 to me that since this comment restricts the 21 scope of the rule or the possible scope of the 22 rule that it should be included in the rule 23 other rather than in a comment.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: When this 25 rule was passed, the landlords were saying

1 that they couldn't -- that lawyers didn't want
2 to do this work and that it was too expensive 3 and it was really -- they were really talking 4 about their employees. But at that time this 5 Committee felt they didn't care who 6 represented a landlord or a tenant in an FE&D 7 case, and if that's what they wanted, that was 8 okay. The Supreme Court had the ability to 9 say who could do something in a court whether 10 they were a lawyer or not. This was sort 11 of -- and just it went through with sheer 12 brute force and I guess neglect in a way. But 13 do we care?

14 MR. LATTING: I don't.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I mean, if a 16 paralegal -- if somebody has formed a little 17 FE&D shop and has got a couple of paralegals 18 that can do a good job for a landlord or a 19 tenant, what difference does it make? I mean, 20 I'm asking a question. Do we care or do we 21 want to change it or do we want to leave it as 22 it is? Justice Duncan.

23 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: I care.
24 And I'm in favor of at least leaving it as 25 broad as it is, if not expanding it. I mean,

1 I would go just the opposite way of the 2 committee. I think one of the reasons that 3 litigation at any level costs so much is that 4 we restrict representation to attorneys, and 5 I'm not in favor of that monopoly.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: So no
7 change? Does anybody want to change this?

8 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Can I just 9 mention one thing, Luke?

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Elaine
11 Carlson.

12 PROFESSOR CARLSON: On page 3
13 of this memo on Attachment "A," it's pointed 14 out that the Government Code, Section 81.101, 15 prohibits persons not admitted to the bar to 16 proceed on behalf of a client in front of a 17 judge, and then it lists those persons who 18 can: Licensed attorneys, bona fide law 19 students, unlicensed graduate students who 20 have their bar card basically.

21 If "authorized agent" means anything
22 other than attorneys, the attorney general 23 believes that Rule 747a would necessarily have 24 to yield to the statute, looking at the 25 attorney general opinion. Therefore, the

1 question is not whether we care, but more or 2 less do we care that we may have a rule that's 3 in conflict with the statute.

4 Now, you might just come out on the end
5 that the Supreme Court has the authority to 6 regulate the practice of law. This is their 7 rule, and that authority overrides the 8 legislative suggestion to the contrary or the 9 attorney general's opinion not directly 10 addressing this problem but another problem on 11 non-attorneys representing folks in court.

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Justice
13 Duncan.

14 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: I don't 15 think we can decide this kind of an issue.
16 There are also cases around the country
17 holding that it is unconstitutional for any 18 governmental entity to prevent a party from 19 representing itself at any stage in the 20 litigation in civil cases.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Including 22 corporations?

23 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: Yes. I
24 think there's -- well, I'm not going to try to 25 say the state, but there are a couple of cases

1 around the country. And to decide this issue
2 I think is beyond what we really can do. If 3 it gets litigated and someone says there's a 4 conflict between the statute and the rule,
5 that may have to be decided, but I don't think 6 at this point we can resolve that.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, the 8 only way we could resolve that is to repeal 9 the rule.

10 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: Well, then 11 we may resolve the conflict between the 12 statute and the rule, but we may be creating a 13 denial of equal protection depending on the 14 constitutionality of the entire limitation of 15 the practice of law, so all I'm saying is sort 16 of whichever way you go in this area you're 17 going to run into judicial questions.

18 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: But if 19 the authorized agent is defined as proposed by 20 the Committee, how would that trespass on any 21 right of a person to represent himself?

22 JUSTICE CORNELIUS: They are 23 representing themselves through an agent.

24 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: The only 25 restriction would be to have some agent other

1 than themselves like a paralegal represent 2 them. Is that contrary to the Constitution?

3 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: You got me.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, a
5 corporation has to act through its agents. It 6 doesn't make any difference whether they're 7 employees, directors, officers, outsiders,
8 insiders, out-house, in-house. They're all 9 still agents.

10 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: And 11 that's what the comment would provide for.

12 JUSTICE CORNELIUS: Right.

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: But in trying 14 to pick up on what Justice Duncan has said, 15 why can't a paralegal be the authorized agent
16 of a corporation just like its president?
17 There's no reason, no legal reason why not.
18 The president only has the authorization given 19 to it by the board. There's no magic to 20 someone being an employee as opposed to an 21 outsider, I wouldn't think.

22 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Well, is 23 that a corporation representing itself?

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: If it elects
25 to have an agent.

1 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: If it
2 employs somebody, some outside person to 3 represent it, it's not representing itself.

4 PROFESSOR CARLSON: It's not 5 someone purporting to practice law, not 6 holding themselves out to be practicing law.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, they 8 can't do that.

9 MR. PRINCE: All we're trying 10 to do is just address that paralegal thing and 11 make it as broad as possible. I think the 12 Committee agrees with what you're saying, that 13 we ought to make it as broad and give as many 14 options as there are to people in FE&D cases 15 as possible to appear on behalf of the 16 parties; but within making it as broad as 17 possible, try to address this unauthorized 18 practice of law problem. So the question is, 19 do you want to not address that possible 20 unauthorized practice of law problem? That's 21 why we carved out the -- that was the only 22 purpose; there wasn't any real decision there.

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Why don't we 24 leave it up to the Supreme Court to decide 25 whether or not it has the power to let a

1 nonlawyer appear in JP court on FE&D cases.

2 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Well,
3 they would decide that if they approve the 4 rule, you know.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, they've 6 already decided -- see, this rule is already 7 on the books, Judge.

8 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Well, I
9 know, but if they approve the comment or 10 approve incorporation of the comment into the 11 rule, then they would be deciding, have the 12 question before them, and would be in a 13 position to decide it.

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's the 15 comment. They've already passed -- in 1982
16 they passed the rule that's above that.

17 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Yes, I
18 know. But if the comment goes or the comment 19 gets put in the rule, then they would have 20 that question to decide specifically.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: What I'm 22 saying is let the Supreme Court decide whether 23 its current rule is valid on the face of the 24 AG's opinion that it may not be. Sooner or 25 later the Court has got to decide that.

1           Anyway, the committee recommends the 2 comment, right?

3                   PROFESSOR CARLSON: Correct.

4                   CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. That 5 doesn't need a second. Those in favor show by 6 hands. Five.

7                   Those opposed. Three.

8                   Five to three in favor of recommending 9 the comment.

10                   HON. C. A. GUITTARD: I move 11 that the comment be incorporated into the 12 rule.

13                   JUSTICE CORNELIUS: Second.

14                   CHAIRMAN SOULES: Moved and 15 second to make it part of the rule. Those in 16 favor show by hands. Eight.

17                   Those opposed. One.

18                   Eight to one to make it part of the rule, 19 so write it and make it part of the rule,
20 Elaine, and we'll go to what's next.

21                   PROFESSOR CARLSON: All right.
22 The fourth matter on page 2 of the November 6
23 letter to Luke is simply to correct an error.
24 Reference was made in Rule 749a to a pauper's 25 affidavit. It should read "contested by

1 appellee." It currently apparently says
2 "appellant."

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Where is 4 that? 749b?

5 PROFESSOR CARLSON: 749a.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

7 PROFESSOR CARLSON: And if you
8 look, it should be in the red-lined version,
9 Luke.

10 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: In my 11 book it says "appellee."

12 PROFESSOR CARLSON: You know,
13 we had different rule books. Some had 14 "appellant"; some had "appellee." I don't 15 know what the official one says, but we did 16 have conflicting rules book.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, in 18 years past West has seen it fit to correct 19 some of the things that we sent out with 20 errors, so they may have done it to some 21 books.

22 Where does the word appear that we're 23 fixing? I cannot find it.

24 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Okay. It
25 says "Raised by Bill Willis" in his letter on 1 page 978.

2 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: It's the 3 second to the last line in the first paragraph 4 of 749a, is it not, Elaine?

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: "When a
6 pauper's affidavit is timely contested by the 7 appellee," so we're going to -- I guess for 8 purposes of sending this to the Supreme Court 9 we ought to put in "appellant" and then --

10 PROFESSOR CARLSON: No.
11 "Appellee" is correct, and as I said, some 12 rule books had it, Luke, and some rule books
13 didn't. I did not look at the official --

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: But we've got 15 to tell the Supreme Court what we're doing, so 16 we'll insert "appellant" and strike it through 17 and underscore "appellee."

18 MR. McMANS: No, appellee, not 19 appellant.

20 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Right.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: You don't 22 understand what I'm doing. I'm trying to tell 23 the Supreme Court what we're doing. I'm going 24 to insert before the word "appellee,"
25 "appellant," and then we're going to strike

1 it through. And then we're going to 2 underscore "appellee." Okay? We've got to 3 tell the Court what's up.

4 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Okay.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Next.

6 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Mr.

7 Chairman, I notice the term "pauper's 8 affidavit," and do we need to use that term
9 here since we've eliminated it in the General
10 Rules?

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Judge, no.

12 And if you would like to rewrite it, help us.
13 That means we're going to have to go through 14 all these rules and rewrite affidavit of 15 inability, and if the game is worth the 16 candle, well, somebody can take it on.

17 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Well, I
18 don't think this Committee ought to sit down 19 and do it, but perhaps it ought to be done.

20 And also the fact that the affidavit of 21 inability does not incorporate the 22 requirements of Rule 145, and the question is 23 whether it should.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: There may be 25 a second big chapter to all of this. The

1 justice courts want a new rule book to cover 2 every rule focused especially for them and 3 distinct from the rules of all other courts in 4 Texas, so I don't know what they're going to 5 come up with. So we probably shouldn't go 6 beyond these inquiries today and just try to 7 fix the things that people have complained 8 about, if we agree they need fixing. What's 9 next?

10 PROFESSOR CARLSON: All right.
11 The next area deals with a proposal to modify 12 Rule 749b. And I wish Steve Yelenosky was 13 here, because it deals with the requirement of 14 a tenant, who suffers an adverse forcible 15 entry and detainer decision, who appeals by 16 trial de novo, to pay rent pending that appeal 17 by trial de novo.

18 If you recall, we looked at this I think 19 back in 1990 and we made a modification that 20 would not contingent the ability to -- the 21 tenant could no longer be required to deposit 22 up front the rent because we felt that that 23 might have some open court implications, but 24 that nevertheless the tenant had a duty to 25 continue the rental payments as now provided,

1 I believe, in 749b.

2 The suggestion has been made to modify
3 that rule to allow for payment of the fair 4 market value of the rent by a tenant seeking 5 to remain in possession while appealing the 6 unsuccessful judgment. The proponent suggests 7 that without that clarifying language some 8 courts are allowing tenants who receive 9 government assistance from government housing 10 authorities to remain in possession pending 11 appeal without having to tender the rent into 12 the registry of the court, and the proponent 13 also suggests the adoption of a presumption to 14 incorporate into the rules that the rental 15 amount as provided by a lease agreement is the 16 fair market value of the rent for purposes of 17 determining the appropriate rent deposit.

18 The committee looked at that suggestion 19 by Lynn Sanders beginning on Page 971 of the 20 materials and recommends that we adopt his 21 suggestion; that is, we include at the second 22 sentence at the end of 749b(2) that the rental 23 amount as provided by a lease is the fair 24 market value of the rent for purposes of 25 determining the appropriate rent deposit.

1           If you look at the red-lined version of 2 the rule on Page 3 you can see how that 3 sentence would be added in under the proposal.

4           CHAIRMAN SOULES: What does 5 this accomplish?

6           PROFESSOR CARLSON: According 7 to Mr. or Ms. Sanders, I can't recall which it 8 is, that there are some courts who are now -- 9 some JP courts who are now totally waiving the 10 requirement of paying rent by a tenant who is 11 on government assisted housing because they 12 say it's government assisted housing so you 13 don't have to pay any rent.

14           PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: So how 15 does this solve -- I don't understand how this 16 solves the problem.

17           PROFESSOR CARLSON: It gives -- 18 the suggestion was to give the justice of the 19 peace this presumption so that they could 20 figure out what the fair market value of the 21 rent would be.

22           PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Why is 23 there no fair market value of the rent if they 24 receive government assistance?

25           PROFESSOR CARLSON: Apparently

1 they're taking the view that since it's 2 government assistance and the government pays
3 part of it, they can't determine what the fair
4 market value is. And apparently this is done, 5 I don't know, it's what we're told, in private 6 apartment situations or housing situations and 7 then apparently there's some governmental 8 ability to come in and basically pay a part of 9 that.

10 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: It seems 11 to make sense, because I would think if 12 somebody wanted to make a big stink in any 13 case they would start arguing about whether 14 the rental agreement was really the fair
15 market value, and it doesn't seem like you 16 should have that stink going on or that 17 controversy going on for the purposes of this.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Where is the 19 letter that this responds to?

20 PROFESSOR CARLSON: The Sanders
21 letter I believe is page 971, is that right?

22 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: It seems 23 like this provision would not create the 24 controversy but would cure or avoid the 25 controversy.

1 MR. HAMILTON: I don't
2 understand. If there's no rental agreement, 3 how can the fair market value be based on the 4 agreement? If it's government housing, there 5 isn't any lease agreement.

6 PROFESSOR CARLSON: If you look
7 at -- it is Mr. Sanford's letter on page 976.

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Oh, I see 9 what they're saying. Okay. Here is the 10 deal. Some JP -- if a person is in possession 11 of multifamily residential premises, their 12 apartment, and they're getting rental
13 assistance from the government, HUD, then some 14 JPs are saying that those people can stay in 15 possession of their residential premises if 16 they continue to pay their part. And this guy 17 wants us to throw them out, even if they pay 18 their part, if the government doesn't pay its 19 part. That's what this says.

20 PROFESSOR CARLSON: So assume 21 the tenant breaches the lease in some way that 22 would trigger a right for the forcible entry
23 and detainer in a government housing 24 situation, which is apparently what's 25 happening. The government usually would pay

1 all or part of that rent, but now the tenant 2 has breached the lease in some way that would 3 support losing a forcible entry and detainer
4 action. This just says now what happens.
5 They are supposed to pay one month's rent into 6 the registry of the court.

7 Apparently some courts are saying, well, 8 since the government was paying it before but 9 they're not anymore because you breached the 10 terms of whatever HUD requires, you don't have 11 to pay anything. And the question becomes is 12 that the correct interpretation and should we 13 address it by signaling to the court that here 14 is a presumption of what fair market value
15 would be that the government was paying before 16 the lease terminated because of a failure to 17 comply for some reason.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: The county
19 court found that the tenant was only required 20 to pay his portion into the registry of the 21 court, which in this case was zero. And he 22 wants this rental amount as provided in the 23 lease agreement, which he says should be prima 24 facie evidence, as evidence of the fair market
25 value.

1 MR. HAMILTON: Where does fair
2 market value come in? Why do we have to 3 switch from rental amount to fair market
4 value?

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: He wants the 6 rule to be changed to require the payment of 7 the fair market value of the rent into the 8 registry of the court, with the terms of the 9 rental agreement being prima facie evidence of 10 fair market value. So really there's no
11 anchor to the concept of fair market value 12 being the lease in the rule as written. He 13 wants that to be written in too.

14 MR. HAMILTON: We would have to 15 change paragraph 1, then, to provide the fair 16 market value.

17 JUSTICE CORNELIUS: Well,
18 that's a circuitous way of determining it.
19 There's going to be a rental amount agreed 20 upon somewhere. It's either going to be in an 21 oral contract or a written contract, so 22 what's -- we don't need fair market value in 23 there. All we need is the amount of rent
24 provided by the agreement. That way you can 25 do away with prima facie and all of those 1 problems.

2 PROFESSOR CARLSON: And you
3 could argue that 749b(2) does that already.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's what 5 it looks to me like.

6 PROFESSOR CARLSON: That's just 7 not the interpretation that apparently all the 8 justices are utilizing, and whether -- this 9 was just an isolated letter, so it's whether 10 the committee feels that it's a sufficient 11 enough problem to address or whether we should 12 just rely upon the language of the current 13 rule.

14 JUSTICE CORNELIUS: If you
15 leave it the way it is, the rent might be 16 conceivably way below the market value and 17 then the fellow, in order to appeal, would 18 have to pay the higher amount, which is not 19 fair.

20 PROFESSOR CARLSON: You know,
21 Luke, I just have to confess an ignorance on 22 our committee, and that's why I was hoping 23 Steve would be here, on how the HUD lease 24 situation really is structured.

25 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, this

1 man says they're not a party to a lease but 2 they make a contract to pay a portion of the 3 rent to the landlord. And here the landlord 4 said -- or the tenant said that the tenant was 5 going to vacate, so HUD stopped the copayment, 6 and then the tenant didn't vacate. The tenant 7 stayed there, and they tried to get the tenant 8 out, and the county court held that the tenant 9 only had to pay his part, which was nothing, 10 to keep the premises. That's what this letter 11 says.

12 MR. HAMILTON: You could 13 correct that by changing paragraph 1 to 14 provide that they pay into the registry the 15 amount due the landlord for one rental period.
16 Then it wouldn't matter whether it was due 17 from the tenant or from the government.

18 JUSTICE CORNELIUS: But in that 19 case would he have to get the government to 20 pay its share as well?

21 MR. HAMILTON: The tenant's
22 share under the example is zero, so whatever 23 is due the landlord, I guess the tenant would 24 have to pay the whole thing.

25 JUSTICE CORNELIUS: Or you

1 could say whatever the tenant owes the 2 landlord for his rent, and that would take 3 care of the HUD situation as well.

4 MR. PRINCE: But that's the 5 problem.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yeah. What
7 Sanford is trying to get to is he's saying 8 that if the tenant holds over after the 9 government stops paying, the tenant ought to 10 have to pay the full rent.

11 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Do we have 12 any evidence that this has happened more than 13 once?

14 PROFESSOR CARLSON: No.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: No. And this 16 was October 1990.

17 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: So nobody
18 has brought this up again in six years?

19 PROFESSOR CARLSON: There's no
20 other correspondence that I'm aware of.

21 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: I guess
22 the question is whether or not the government 23 can defeat his appeal by not paying its part.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, he 25 caused the government not to pay. He told the 1 government he was going to vacate, so the 2 government stopped paying because they thought 3 he was going to vacate, according to this 4 letter, but the sentence itself -- it seems to 5 me like it's almost self-evident, the sentence

6 that the rental amount as provided by a lease 7 agreement is the fair market value. The only 8 problem I have with that is what if there's an 9 exorbitant holdover rate? That would be a 10 rental value provided in the lease, so 11 somebody might contend that it was that huge 12 amount that was the applicable rate instead of 13 the primary term rate.

14 PROFESSOR CARLSON: If it was a 15 presumption, it could be rebutted.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. What 17 do we do with this, so we can move on?

18 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Luke, I
19 don't think the committee has strong feelings, 20 the subcommittee, so I would say just put it 21 to the Committee whether we want to address 22 the problem.

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. In or 24 out, the last sentence. Those who say in hold 25 up your hand.

1           Out. It's a unanimous denial of the last 2 sentence. No amendment.

3                   PROFESSOR CARLSON: All right.
4 The next proposed change is, again, just a
5 cleaning up of the rules a bit.

6           Again, Rule 749b, subparagraph (3) ends
7 with the words, "the court shall issue a writ 8 of restitution." In the other places in the 9 FE&D rules we have replaced that term with 10 "writ of possession," so we would simply be 11 changing the last word of paragraph (3) of 12 749(b) from "restitution" to "possession."

13                   CHAIRMAN SOULES: A writ of 14 possession to the appellee?

15                   PROFESSOR CARLSON: I think the 16 writ actually is served by the sheriff or 17 constable or otherwise authorized person.

18                   CHAIRMAN SOULES: Let's see, 19 I'm just confused by the fact that we're using 20 "possession" in two different ways. I guess 21 "writ of possession" has its own -- we're 22 talking about the tenant staying in possession 23 and then we're going to issue a writ of 24 possession?

25                   PROFESSOR CARLSON: I know.

1 It's a term of art that's just been 2 incorporated in the other FE&D rules.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: In favor of 4 the appellee? Okay. It doesn't matter.

5 Those in favor of substituting
6 "possession" for "restitution" show by hands.

7 Is anyone opposed?

8 Unanimous consent. Okay. Next.

9 PROFESSOR CARLSON: On 10 paragraph 7 in this November 6th letter the 11 suggestion was made that there be a clarifying 12 comment included to Rule 749c that although a 13 right of appeal from an unsuccessful forcible 14 entry and detainer judgment out of a JP court 15 de novo to the county court exists without the 16 necessity of making a rent deposit into the 17 registry of the court, the tenant has no right 18 to remain in possession pending appeal without 19 the appropriate tender of rent.

20 We recommended including that proposed 21 comment.

23 objection? Justice Duncan.

24 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: I don't
25 have an objection. I do think -- I notice

1 that the subcommittee hasn't addressed
2 Rule 749, and I do think there is a problem in 3 these rules with confusing the appeal bond for 4 purposes of appeal and a supersedeas bond for 5 purposes of suspending enforcement of the 6 judgment, and I wondered if the subcommittee 7 had considered 749 in the context of 749c or 8 not?

9 PROFESSOR CARLSON: No, we have 10 not.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Any
12 objection to the comment on page 4 of Elaine's 13 materials under 749c? No objection. It's 14 unanimous consent. 751.

15 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Yes. There 16 was a suggestion made to clarify the type of 17 notice the clerk should give pursuant to 18 Rule 751. Apparently some JP clerks are 19 erroneously interpreting the notice to be the 20 equivalent of service of process and are 21 charging a service of process fee for the 22 appeal de novo to the county court.

23 And so there was a suggestion made to 24 modify Rule 751 by adding the sentence you see 25 at the bottom of page 2 of this letter, which

1 is, notification is sufficient by first class 2 mail and that no service of process fee shall 3 be charged.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's 5 talking about the county clerk, isn't it?

6 PROFESSOR CARLSON: You're 7 right. The clerk is to immediately notify the 8 appellant and the adverse party of the date of 9 receipt of the transcript and the docket 10 number. That notice is to advise the 11 defendant of the necessity of filing a written 12 answer in the county court when the defendant 13 has plead orally in the justice court.

14 The suggestion was made that we make it 15 clear to the county court clerk that 16 notification is sufficient by first class mail 17 and service is not required.

19 objection?

20 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Or service
21 of process fee.

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. It's 23 passed by unanimous consent.

24 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Finally the 25 last suggestion, paragraph 9 on page 3 of this

1 letter, goes to the overall suggestion that 2 was made by -- or the work led by Bill
3 Dorsaneo on a recodification of the rules
4 project. And I don't know if you want to 5 bring this up at this point, Luke, or if you 6 want to wait, but there are a number of 7 miscellaneous rules at the end of our sections 8 814 through 822 that don't deal with forcible 9 entry and detainer. They deal with 10 miscellaneous general rule subjects.

11 Justice Guittard, I believe in your 12 report, your appellate rule report, I believe 13 you suggested that these would be renumbered
14 as General Procedure Rules 13 through 20.

15 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: That
16 depends upon the adoption of the General 17 Procedure Rules. It looked like to me sort of 18 like at the end of the legislative session 19 that that's not going to get through; we're 20 not going to have time for that, however 21 meritorious it might be.

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Why don't 23 we --

24 PROFESSOR CARLSON: -- table
25 that?

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: -- put that
2 off and put it on the agenda for another day.

3 And I know that Paula wants some guidance 4 from us on a couple of things, so why don't we 5 spend not more than a half an hour on what she 6 needs, if we can get it done in that length of 7 time, and then get on with Bill's here, and we 8 can pick up with where we left off with him.

9 You had something on Batson, and what was 10 the other general area that you wanted us to 11 address, Paula, with you today?

12 MS. SWEENEY: It was actually 13 just Rule 292, and it's already been addressed
14 and then commented on. Everybody just needs 15 to see the final draft of it.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: On 292?

17 MS. SWEENEY: Yeah.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Let's
19 pass that out.

20 MS. SWEENEY: And Holly, you've 21 got Batson there too.

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Let's
23 get it done. Let's get it passed out there.

24 MS. SWEENEY: Okay. 292 is the 25 situation that you get into when you start

1 with six or 12 jurors and you lose one or you
2 lose two or whatever, and there were a couple 3 of things that were done to the rule. One was 4 just because it was a little confusing what 5 happens if you end up with less than 12. But 6 the other, if you remember, the discussion had 7 to do with what happens vis-a-vis disability, 8 and we had the case that sort of triggered the 9 discussion, which was the lady juror who 10 couldn't get to the courthouse because there 11 was a flood and the judge excused her as 12 disabled, and then the debate we had was is 13 that a disability or should they have waited 14 for the waters to recede.

15 Anyway, what is added -- can this has all 16 been discussed, and this was the language that 17 the Committee has instructed us to put 18 together, and it has now been put together and 19 it is here for your approval. What the rule 20 provides now is that it makes it clear that if 21 there's -- you've got to have the same
22 10 people who agree to everything. It
23 includes replacements or alternatives,
24 alternate jurors, which has never been clear 25 before, and in fact there was a concern that

1 was raised by -- I think it was a letter from 2 Kronzer a few years back. What happens if you 3 lose some jurors and an alternate comes in?

4 The way the rule was written, you 5 couldn't tell if that alternate was part of 6 the same 10 that agreed to everything or if it 7 had to be a core of 10 of the original and the 8 alternate didn't really count, and this makes 9 it clear that the alternate is equal, and 10 that's basically it, so the subcommittee would 11 move final approval of Rule 292.

12 And then the last sentence is the trial
13 court can determine if a juror is disabled 14 because of a severe illness of the juror or 15 because of death or severe illness of a near 16 relative of the juror, and that's the sort of 17 codicil to what we were talking about in the 18 flooding situation.

19 The old provision simply allowed that if 20 the juror died or was disabled, he would be 21 excused or she would be excused, but it didn't 22 talk about family. And the discussion that we 23 had here was it's unrealistic to expect a 24 mother with a young child in the hospital or a 25 sick husband or whatever, you know, your

1 husband has a heart attack but you're expected 2 to be here on the jury and you can't be 3 excused as disabled for that. It didn't make 4 sense. That's not going to be effective jury 5 service, so that was how the language came to 6 be drafted. Alex.

7 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: When you
8 have -- you're down to nine jurors. It says 9 "those remaining may render and return a 10 verdict." I assume that that verdict has to 11 be unanimous?

12 MS. SWEENEY: It does.

13 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Do we want 14 to make that clearer, or is that clear 15 enough?

16 MS. SWEENEY: We probably 17 should. It says in the next sentence, "If 18 fewer than 12 or six, it needs to be signed by 19 each juror."

20 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: If you
21 only have nine?

22 MS. SWEENEY: Yeah.

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: What is 25 the -- on the fourth line, "including any

1           alternate jurors sworn as replacements," am I 2           supposed to be giving a new oath for 3           alternates when they replace somebody?

4                       MS. SWEENEY:   You just swear 5           them in.

6                       HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER:   Well,
7           I've always just sworn everybody in.   Has 8           anybody seen anything different?   I've got 13
9           there, 12 and an alternate, and I swear them 10          all in.

11                      HON. C. A. GUITTARD:   Well, 12          they would be sworn as replacements then.

13                      MS. SWEENEY:   So you're 14          covered.   This doesn't imply when they would 15          be --

16                      JUSTICE CORNELIUS:   But under 17          that interpretation all of the alternates 18          would be replacements, and you don't want 19          that.

20                      HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER:   Why not 21          just say "any alternate jurors" and just drop 22          "sworn as replacements"?

23                      MS. SWEENEY:   I don't see a 24          problem with that.

25                      Elaine, you sat through some of these

1 discussions. The rest of my subcommittee is 2 tied up this morning, so --

3 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Same 4 thing in the next phrase, drop "sworn as 5 replacements," and on the eighth line or ninth 6 line.

7 MS. SWEENEY: I think the way
8 this came out, and I'm trying to remember who 9 initially drafted it, I think it was Anne 10 Cochran, and I think the reason it was phrased 11 that way was to make it clear that you're only 12 talking about the alternates that are actually 13 now sworn in to deliberate and not all of the 14 alternates. I think that was the distinction 15 she was trying to draw.

16 The suggestion has been made that we use 17 the word "seated" instead.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Doris Lange.

19 MS. LANGE: On that last line
20 there, "illness of a near relative," I would 21 suggest that it be "immediate family" to 22 coincide with election laws and everything, 23 which means your immediate family, because who 24 is "near," your cousin or whatever? I think 25 you would get into a problem of what is a near

1 relative, and saying "immediate family" would 2 clarify it to be your household.

3 MS. SWEENEY: That was the vote
4 of the Committee actually. That's what the 5 Committee wanted. We just chose the term 6 "near relative." But "immediate family" is 7 actually a term of art somewhere in the 8 Election Code?

9 MS. LANGE: Yes.

10 MS. SWEENEY: And it means?

11 MS. LANGE: Father, mother, 12 spouse.

13 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: First 14 degree.

15 MS. LANGE: First degree, 16 sibling.

17 MS. SWEENEY: Okay. Then I
18 would move that the Committee adopt a rule to 19 include the three places where it says "sworn 20 as replacement" replaced by the word "seated."

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Why?

22 MS. SWEENEY: And the words
23 "near relative" replaced by "immediate 24 family."

25 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, if

1 they're alternate jurors they have the 2 capacity of a juror. Why do they have to be 3 seated, sworn or whatever? That assumes all 4 those things, doesn't it? I mean, why have 5 any words other than "including any alternate 6 jurors"?

7 MS. SWEENEY: I think the 8 concept that Anne was shooting for was these 9 are the ones who got used as opposed to the 10 ones who sat through the trial but got 11 dismissed because you still had enough folks 12 to deliberate; in other words, distinguishing 13 alternates who did get to deliberate from 14 alternates who didn't get to deliberate. I 15 think that was the concept. Do you think we 16 get there without saying it by implication?

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, when 18 are they seated? Are they seated when the 19 evidence begins?

20 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
21 you would be seated whenever you have less 22 than 12 or six.

23 MS. SWEENEY: Right.

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: This
25 says the first one is the same 10 members of a

1 jury of 12, including any alternates. Well, a
2 jury of 12 would not include Alternate No. 13
3 when nobody has been disabled.

4 And the same thing in the second one.
5 It's talking about only nine jurors remaining 6 in a jury of 12 and including any alternates.
7 That's not necessary because you've only got 8 nine left.

9 MS. SWEENEY: Here's the 10 problem that occurred that gave rise to this 11 whole discussion. Apparently Kronzer was 12 trying the case. They had 12 jurors and they 13 had a couple of alternates. A juror or two 14 died or got sick. Alternates came in. They 15 didn't have a unanimous verdict. They had 10 16 of them signing, but that included some 17 alternates. And the way the rule was written 18 before, you had to have 10 members of an 19 original jury and so the alternates 20 couldn't -- so that's what we're trying to 21 clear up, and I thought we had, but I'm 22 willing to...

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I just don't 24 know what "seated" means. That's why I'm 25 worried. Why do we have that word? Is there

1 any new oath given to the jury? It's just 2 that they're charged.

3 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: All the 4 jurors and alternates stand up and take their 5 oath before we start and sit down. The only 6 distinction I'm aware of in practice is if 7 somebody doesn't show up, is disabled or 8 whatever, it's just who you send back. But 9 they don't know -- normally they don't know
10 who the alternates are. Some judges tell 11 them, but normally they don't know who the 12 alternates are until you say which 12 can go 13 back to deliberate.

14 Now, there's actually a few judges that 15 will let them all go back and deliberate with 16 the alternates.

17 MS. SWEENEY: Yeah, on the 18 basis that you have sat through this whole 19 trial. Yeah, they have. And then you end up 20 with a jury of 15.

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Or 13.

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Just like in 23 federal court, only there are no alternates in 24 federal court anymore.

25 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's

1 right. There's a strange number of jurors.

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: They've got 3 the 12 and everybody that's left deliberates.
4 Well, I don't know.

5 Don Hunt, I'm sorry.

6 MR. HUNT: Why don't we change 7 the language to "an alternate juror who 8 replaces an original juror."

9 MS. SWEENEY: That flows
10 trippingly off the tongue. That may be the 11 best way to do it. "Including any alternative 12 jurors who replace original jurors," so in all 13 three places you would do that?

14 MR. HUNT: Something like that.

15 JUSTICE CORNELIUS: Or you
16 could just change "sworn" to "used," any 17 alternate jurors used as replacements.

18 MS. SWEENEY: Any alternate 19 jurors used as replacements. That works for 20 me.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. How is 22 it going to read?

23 MS. SWEENEY: "Any alternate 24 jurors used as replacements" in all three 25 places.

2 that okay with you, Don?

3 MR. HUNT: My goodness, yes.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. And 5 the last sentence is going to say "including 6 the death or severe illness of" --

7 MS. SWEENEY: -- "an immediate 8 family member of the juror."

9 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Of the 10 juror's immediate family?

11 MS. SWEENEY: No, we want it to 12 be --

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: -- a member
14 of the juror's -- a member of the -- or severe 15 illness of the juror's immediate family,
16 right?

17 MS. SWEENEY: Yes.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. All in 19 favor of 292 as now constructed after this 20 debate? Rusty.

21 MR. McMANS: Let's have some 22 discussion. Go ahead.

23 MR. HAMILTON: Are we going to 24 add as to the nine that the verdict must be 25 unanimous?

1                   CHAIRMAN SOULES: We lost that 2 thought, Carl. Thanks for bringing that back 3 up.

4                   MR. HAMILTON: The fifth line
5 where it says "may render and return a 6 verdict," which is unanimous or whatever the 7 wording should be.

8                   MR. LATTING: If it's unanimous 9 and it's less than the original 12, do they 10 all still have to sign it?

11                   MS. SWEENEY: Yes.

12                   HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Suppose
13 it's 11, does it have to be unanimous?

14                   MR. McMAINS: It doesn't have 15 to be unanimous, but they have to sign it.

16                   MR. LATTING: What's the idea 17 of making everybody sign it if you have 18 10 jurors left and it's unanimous? It seems 19 to me the only time you want individual jurors 20 signing a verdict is when it's not unanimous.

21                   CHAIRMAN SOULES: It does 22 simplify these instructions. If less than 23 12 reach a verdict, they don't need to sign 24 it.

25                   HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: It

1 conflicts with 226a. In 226a the boilerplate 2 instructions has the signature certificate for 3 the presiding juror alone, if unanimous, and 4 then blanks, 11 blanks to be signed by those 5 rendering the verdict if not unanimous. So
6 the 226a form contemplates an 11-member jury 7 unanimous if only signed by the presiding
8 juror.

9 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Bar none?

10 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Bar
11 none. It's unanimous only if the presiding
12 juror signs it.

13 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: So it
14 could say, instead of saying if fewer than 12
15 or six jurors render a verdict, it could say, 16 "If the verdict is not unanimous, the verdict 17 must be signed."

18 JUSTICE CORNELIUS: Yeah.
19 That's what that means, not that it is a 20 smaller jury, but --

21 MR. LATTING: Why don't we do
22 that?

23 JUSTICE CORNELIUS: -- if it's 24 not unanimous.

25 MS. SWEENEY: All I can say is

1 the most surprised person in the world is 2 going to be Judge Peebles, because he handed 3 me this and said, "Okay, that's what everybody 4 agreed on at the last meeting."

5 Okay. So if I understand, so far what 6 we're saying is the rule is going to read, "A 7 verdict may be rendered in any cause by the 8 concurrence, as to each and all answers made, 9 of the same 10 members of a jury of 12, 10 including any alternate jurors used, or of the 11 same five members of a jury of six, including 12 any alternate jurors used. However, where as 13 many as three jurors die or be disabled or 14 disqualified from sitting and there are only 15 nine jurors remaining of the jury of 12, 16 including any alternate jurors used, those 17 remaining may render a verdict which must be 18 unanimous. If the verdict is not unanimous, 19 it must be signed by each juror concurring
20 therein. The trial court may determine that a 21 juror is disabled because of the severe 22 illness of the juror or the death or severe 23 illness of the member of the juror's immediate 24 family." Yes?

25 JUSTICE CORNELIUS: Paula,

1 don't you think we ought to put back in after 2 "used," put back in "as replacements" to 3 distinguish between their being used as 4 alternates or being used as jurors?

5 MS. SWEENEY: Yes. And that's 6 what my notes say, that's just not what I
7 read. You're right.

8 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: And one
9 other thing, Paula, instead of "if the verdict 10 is not unanimous," let's say "if any verdict 11 is not unanimous," because if you say "the 12 verdict," it seems to refer to the unanimous 13 verdict of the smaller jury.

14 MS. SWEENEY: All right.

15 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: My 16 question is, would that language require an 17 11-member verdict be unanimous? We don't want 18 to do that, and I was just wondering whether 19 that was --

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yeah. This 21 thing has still got some problems, and that's 22 one of them.

23 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Because 24 it's only if --

25 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Let's try to

1 track along here and see if basically -- we 2 all I think have the concept, it's just the 3 words that are a problem now. A verdict may 4 be rendered in any cause by the concurrence as 5 to each and all answers made by the same 10 or 6 more members of the jury. It should be "10 or 7 more," shouldn't it, of a jury of 12?

8 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: No. You
9 only have to have 10.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Including any
11 alternate jurors used as replacements.

12 MS. SWEENEY: The only qualm I
13 have about that, Luke, is you might have 10 14 that agree on the first issue, or 11 that 15 agree on one issue, but then only 10 agree on 16 the next. Would that raise the implication 17 that once you've got 11 agreeing you've got to 18 keep those same 11 on everything? Because 19 it's the core of 10 you have to keep.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: The verdict
21 has to concur as to each and all answers.
22 That's what it says here.

23 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Yeah. But 24 you only have to have 10 as to all of those 25 answers. And that's the same language that

1 we've used before and that's never created a
2 problem.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

4 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: There
5 ought to be a separate sentence in there that 6 says, "Any verdict rendered by less than 11 7 jurors must be unanimous."

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Bill
9 Dorsaneo.

10 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, I
11 almost hate to say this, but this rule has 12 caused a lot of trouble when it says the same 13 10 members as to each and all answers made, 14 because it probably should say the same 10 as 15 to each and all answers made to the issues
16 that are material to the judgment.

17 And I really think we should look at 18 other jurisdictions and see how they cope with 19 this problem, because we have a number of 20 cases where it's not the same 10 as to 21 everything but it's the same 10 as to, let's 22 say, a finding that there was no injury 23 suffered.

24 MR. LATTING: Why don't we do
25 that? Why do we need to look at other

1 jurisdictions? Why don't we just do what we 2 said, the same 10?

3 MR. McMAINS: The problem is,
4 how do you sort that out? Unless you have a 5 verdict form for each question, how would you 6 ever -- how would you know that was the 7 situation?

8 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well --

9 MR. McMAINS: Because if they 10 say they're hung on three, that doesn't mean, 11 you know, they've agreed on four and five and 12 six.

13 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well,
14 there are two cases that have come up on it.
15 Rusty's point is a good one. It is difficult 16 to know in cases where the jurors disclosed 17 that we had 10 on this one but we don't have 18 the same 10 on all of them, or we can't even 19 answer all of them, we can only answer this 20 one about, you know, the statute of 21 limitations or some affirmative defense, so we 22 can all agree that there was no injury or that 23 there's some defense established, or 10 of us
24 can agree, but we can't agree on anything 25 else. And I think the "same 10" language is

1           literally a troublemaker because it requires,
2           well, more than the same 10 on material
3           issues.

4           And all I'm suggesting, Mr. Chairman, is 5           that we finish up with this and that the 6           committee look at it to see if someone has 7           figured out a way to articulate the same 10 in 8           a more sensible fashion than just to say the 9           same 10 on everything going in, you know.
10          It's material going in, but if you get answers 11          to some, the other questions become 12          immaterial.

13                           CHAIRMAN SOULES:   Wasn't that 14          case Cotner?

15                           PROFESSOR DORSANEO:   Well, 16          there's a recent case on it, and then there's 17          McCauley vs. Consolidated Underwriters, which 18          the Supreme Court granted a writ, heard the 19          argument and all that, and then couldn't 20          figure out what to do and ungranted the writ.

21                           HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER:   I mean, 22          you know, it makes some sense. I think the 23          judge looked at it in camera and said, "Well, 24          let me see what you've got so far." I'm not 25          sure why in camera matters. I'm not going to

1 let the attorneys see. The judge looked at it 2 and decided, "Hey, we can get rid of some of 3 this," and told them to sign what they had.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That was the 5 problem. He should have told them to sign 6 what they had before he looked at it and then 7 it would have been okay, according to the 8 case. If he would have said, "Fill out what 9 10 of you can agree on and sign it and bring 10 it in and return it and we'll either have a 11 verdict or we won't," I mean, if it's a 12 defense verdict, it's a defense verdict.

13 PROFESSOR DORSANE0: The 14 argument that the ones where you had a 15 different 10 were not material because of the 16 answers to the material ones was rejected by 17 the court of appeals, I think it was the Tyler
18 court, I may be wrong, on the basis that it 19 wouldn't have asked it if it wasn't material.
20 And my reaction to that is, well, yeah --

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: We do that 22 all the time.

23 PROFESSOR DORSANE0: -- but it
24 can become immaterial if you answer some other 25 questions in a certain way. And maybe we

1 don't want to mess with it, just let it be,
2 but I would suggest to the committee to try to 3 figure out some way to clarify it.

4 MR. McMANS: I mean, we've 5 never had a -- I mean, you're really talking 6 about an entire system of rendition on a 7 partial verdict.

8 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Yes.

9 MS. SWEENEY: We determined
10 that it wasn't our purview to kick that dog.

11 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well,
12 whose is it then? Nobody's?

13 MS. SWEENEY: Well, no problem
14 was raised to us, we received no 15 correspondence to that effect, nothing was 16 brought before the Committee, and so we took 17 it as our charge to address those problems
18 raised in the -- to cure the obvious problems, 19 but we didn't go looking for any.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Write up what 21 you've got and bring it back and we'll look at 22 it.

23 MS. SWEENEY: All right. I'd 24 be happy to do that.

25 MR. LATTING: I would just like

1 to say that I think this is a very important
2 thing and this Committee ought to look at it.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, write
4 up a recommendation. We'll take a look at it
5 and put it on our agenda. We've got a big 6 agenda.

7 MR. LATTING: Well --

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: So if 9 somebody wants to take it on, they can take it
10 on. But we just can't start debating out a 11 whole new cloth with the work that we've got 12 in front of us, so anybody who wants to put 13 something in writing and bring it in here, get 14 it in here and we'll take a look at it. It 15 will go on the docket if it's submitted in 16 writing.

17 Okay. On to Batson.

18 MS. SWEENEY: What you have,
19 you will note, with a Howie & Sweeney
20 letterhead dated September 13th, 1995, has 21 been in front of you since that time. We had 22 a couple of minutes at the end of that 23 meeting, and we brought you a Batson proposal, 24 and everybody was going to read it and send me 25 comments. And my secretary has just been

1 inundated by opening letters and receiving
2 urgent faxes about this -- we've heard nothing
3 from anybody and don't know whether to take it 4 as your consent.

5 You want it -- you told us, if you will 6 recall, that it was the sense of the Committee
7 that there should be a Batson proposal 8 drafted, so we did that, and that's where we 9 sit.

10 What we have done in drafting it is to 11 try -- and Elaine is here and she's our 12 resource guru on Batson because she's written 13 a couple of papers and Law Review articles on 14 it and knows all about it nationally. But the 15 sense that we have gotten since this project 16 was started, which has been a couple of years, 17 is at the time Batson seemed to be real 18 happening, civil Batson seemed to be a real 19 happening kind of thing, and it appeared at 20 that time that the U.S. Supreme Court and our 21 Court both were going to embrace a lot of 22 protected categories of jurors that you
23 couldn't strike on the basis of race, you 24 couldn't strike on the basis of ethnicity, 25 gender, and then what else would be included.

1           And it seemed that it was going to be an 2 expanding thing, and since then it has 3 appeared that it is less likely to be an 4 expanding thing, and in fact, I think some 5 folks have realized that it could become an 6 enormous quagmire.

7           It also has not developed into a very 8 important part of the civil practice in 9 Texas. Going purely from anecdotal experience
10 and talking to folks and from what I've seen 11 at the courthouse, there's not a lot of Batson 12 hearings going on. None of the judges are 13 reporting a big problem with it.

14           Then there has been some sentiment on the 15 subcommittee, and I want to raise it to you, 16 of do we even want the rule. Do we want to 17 tell people, hey, by the way, this is what you 18 should do, you know, think about this. You 19 know, is creating a rule creating impetus for 20 something that we don't currently have?

21           We were charged to draft a rule, so we 22 drafted one, but that concern exists, and so 23 that's sort of where we are.

24                           CHAIRMAN SOULES: Discussion.

25                           MS. SWEENEY: The first thing

1 we want to know is do you all still want a
2 Batson rule.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Those who
4 want a Batson rule show by hands. Five.

5 Those who do not want a Batson rule show 6 by hands.

7 Five to two, we want a Batson rule.

8 MS. SWEENEY: Okay.

9 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well, I
10 think we ought to propose one to the Court.
11 As I understand it, I mean, this is a pretty 12 clear policy question that they can vote on, 13 but we ought to do our best on a Batson rule 14 and see if they want one or not.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: May I ask the 16 subcommittee why we have -- let's see, oh,
17 this is just 232. You're not changing 233?

18 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, it
19 covers the same territory as 233 in different 20 language.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Why are we 22 doing that? It looks to me like -- I mean, 23 we've had litigation slugged out in the 24 appellate courts on the meaning of "side" and 25 how to balance it between parties and so

1           forth. Why do we change anything other than 2           just add some Batson rules? I ask this 3           subcommittee why.

4                       MS. SWEENEY: This came out of 5           the task force.

6                       CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Other 7           than changing the Batson, other than adding 8           something for Batson to 232 and 233, does 9           anyone see any reason to change any of the 10          words in those two rules? Alex Albright.

11                      PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Well, it 12          seems to me that we're doing lots of 13          consolidating throughout the rules, and why 14          leave this out. I think part (1) of the 15          subcommittee's proposal says the same thing 16          that Rule 233 does.

17                      MS. SWEENEY: In fact, this is 18          your draft.

19                      PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: That's why 20          it's so good, I'm sure. And as I recall, the 21          same language is used. Some of the 22          definitions are not in there, but the 23          definitions are all part of case law now.

24                      HON. C. A. GUITTARD: I'm 25          confused by some of this language here. Some

1 places use "challenge" and some places use 2 "strike," and then down at the bottom of that 3 paragraph, "challenges to peremptory strikes," 4 which uses "challenge" in a little different 5 sense than it's used elsewhere, so perhaps 6 that ought to be cleaned up a bit.

7 MS. SWEENEY: Do you want to 8 obliterate the word "strike" and talk about 9 challenges?

10 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: That
11 would be one solution, I guess.

12 MS. SWEENEY: Okay.

13 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Then you 14 have -- but that leaves the question of 15 challenges to challenges there, which I guess 16 is all right.

17 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I have 18 a few questions, Luke.

20 Brister.

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Halfway
22 through the first paragraph, what does 23 "related to the case" mean? I mean, if they 24 tell me, "I didn't like their body language," 25 that's not related to the case, but I think

1 it's been held to be a good enough ground.

2 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Paula, can 3 I answer that?

4 MS. SWEENEY: If you can.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

6 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Judge
7 Brister, at the time this was drafted, that 8 language was lifted out of a court of appeals 9 decision, and I think you're absolutely right;
10 that the United States Supreme Court decision
11 of Parkett vs. Elem makes it clear that a 12 reason can be given that is not related to the 13 nature of the case, such as body language, 14 rolling your eyes, et cetera, so that language 15 is more protection than necessary under 16 federal constitutional guarantees.

17 MR. LATTING: Luke.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Joe Latting.

19 MR. LATTING: We've gone to 20 great pains to give trial judges the right to 21 correct their mistakes and have their errors 22 pointed out to them, but it looks to me like 23 here in the last sentence of section (3) that 24 if it's determined, in fact, it says that if 25 it's determined that a party strikes someone

1 peremptorily on an improper ground, then that 2 party gets no chance to cure that mistake or 3 no chance to profit by its own error and say, 4 "Well, okay, if you object to that, I'll 5 strike somebody else." I mean, you just lose 6 your entire right for a peremptory challenge 7 before you know whether or not it was 8 improper, so I don't see the idea of that.

9 And I think if we're going to submit this 10 rule to the Court, which I think is folly, at 11 least we ought not to compound it by making it 12 punitive.

14 rule goes beyond what the case law does.

15 MR. LATTING: I know it does.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: For example, 17 we've got "If a neutral explanation is 18 established by the evidence," case law doesn't 19 require evidence, it just requires a 20 statement, a neutral statement of that's my 21 reason.

22 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah.

23 That's --

24 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Luke,
25 there's case law in Texas, civil case law

1 going both ways on that.

2 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah.
3 But I don't want to swear -- this is normally 4 done when I've got the panel seated. I've got 5 a courtroom full of people. The panel is 6 sitting there. I've called the jurors up to 7 the jury box. Somebody says, "I want to make 8 a motion." If I've got to swear people in and 9 take the witness stand, I mean, the way I
10 normally -- just come up here, just like Luke 11 says, what's your -- who do you say? What's 12 your reason that you struck Jurors 2 and 12?
13 And they just tell me.

14 And I really hate not just satellite
15 litigation but swearing in opposing counsel
16 and making them take the witness stand,
17 cross-examination, "You know you're a bigot," 18 you know, that kind of stuff.

19 I definitely -- there are two different
20 sets of courts of appeals, and I strongly 21 endorse the ones that just say this is a 22 representation matter in argument rather than 23 evidence.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: The most 25 recent case I read on this out of Texas Court

1 of Appeals, the party claiming a violation of 2 Batson demanded to see the attorney's notes 3 and the notes from the attorney's client to 4 the attorney relative to jury selection. The 5 court of appeals held that was work product 6 and attorney-client.

7 MR. LATTING: And that's a
8 different issue from the one I raised, which 9 is if it's determined, whether it's evidence 10 or not, that you made an improper strike -- 11 what, in a child custody case, for example, 12 happens if a lawyer strikes a high number of 13 women and the judge decides that these were 14 all improperly based strikes? Does that mean 15 that all -- that that lawyer, that that side
16 gets no peremptory strikes? Suppose you 17 strike six women and they say, "Well, they're 18 all improper." He's left with none.

19 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I think 20 that's what every court has ever done.

21 MR. LATTING: Well, I suggest 22 we don't want to do that.

23 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: You
24 could bust the panel, but you could always do 25 that. I think, correct me if I'm right, you

1 always seat the disputed juror and you don't 2 get any extras. Nobody has ever suggested to 3 the contrary.

4 MR. LATTING: Well, I'm 5 suggesting to the contrary. And put it in the 6 record.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: But you know,
8 I didn't -- as I began to read that case, I 9 had no idea where it was going, because the 10 whole issue is what are the mental processes 11 that caused this juror to be struck, and 12 what's the evidence of those mental 13 processes. I mean, that's exactly what you're 14 going into.

15 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's 16 one of the problems with Batson.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: So?

18 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: There's 19 no way around that problem other than to keep 20 it from getting too intrusive, which is to say 21 just by asking for a statement, Counsel, as to 22 why, or an explanation rather than evidence 23 under oath. So I would propose we drop the 24 requirement that it be evidentiary and that 25 the statement is to be under oath and things

1 that make it look like formal satellite 2 litigation.

3 MS. SWEENEY: So you want to 4 say, "Party seeking to uphold the challenge 5 must present a neutral explanation"?

6 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Right.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Rusty.

8 MR. McMAINS: Well, the problem
9 with that is that I think the right to a 10 hearing on this issue is the essence of what 11 Batson was and is about. It is also what has 12 been adopted by the Texas Supreme Court even 13 before it was applied to civil cases. We 14 applied it before the U.S. Supreme Court 15 applied it in civil cases, the Texas Supreme 16 Court did, and reversed cases based on that 17 and indicated that they had a right to a 18 hearing, and you have a right to a hearing.

19 I mean, the Supreme Court just recently, 20 when they have talked about the hearing, have 21 talked about it in terms of a plenary hearing, 22 meaning evidence, not affidavits, but people
23 on the stand. And that's what they're talking 24 about. That's what they historically have 25 been talking about.

1           And I do not think you can write a rule 2 that suggests that the trial court does not 3 have to have the hearing. That is absolutely
4 inconsistent with what the Supreme Court cases 5 say.

6                           HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: There
7 is absolutely no hint in any Texas Supreme 8 Court case that we have to have a plenary 9 hearing for Batson. If that's your 10 interpretation of what they mean every time
11 they say "hearing," I think that's wrong too.
12 That may be what they mean sometimes, but 13 sometimes "hearing" means "Mail it in to me
14 and I'll let you know what I did."

15                           MR. McMAINS: In a Supreme 16 Court opinion recently on a class action, when 17 the Court said "hearing," and it's just 18 talking about hearing, it said, When we use 19 the term "hearing," we generally mean a 20 plenary hearing, which includes evidence, and 21 does not mean affidavits. It means stuff that 22 is admissible in trial. That's what they're 23 talking about.

24                           HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: In 25 class actions I'll agree with you, but I think

1 they're concerned with different things in 2 class actions.

3 MR. McMANS: There are due
4 process considerations in class actions.
5 There are equal protection considerations in 6 Batson. That is the essence of it. It is a 7 constitutionally derived source.

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well,
9 apparently we've got a fairly broad range of 10 what could be a Batson rule. It can be a rule 11 that is not very intrusive and therefore 12 somewhat informal. In tracking the cases 13 where the party objecting says, "I object, 14 they struck all the women, and that's gender 15 motivated," the lawyer striking gets up and 16 states what his race neutral reason was. That 17 becomes the prima facie reason, if it's 18 anything short of nonsense. And then after 19 that the burden is on the objecting party to 20 do something. I never have quite understood 21 exactly what that last part is, but I do know 22 what the first two parts are in some of the 23 cases.

24 Okay. Then the other end of the sweep 25 across, if I'm understanding what Elaine is

1 saying and reading what this rule says, is the 2 objecting party has to put on evidence that 3 there is an improper motivation, to use the 4 words that are in here. Then the striking
5 party has to come back with evidence that it 6 was not improperly motivated. And I still 7 don't know what the third piece of it is.

8 MR. LATTING: And what you have 9 just said is why it's folly for this Committee 10 to endorse this whole principle to the Supreme 11 Court. We can't write a rule that makes any 12 sense because the concept doesn't make any 13 sense, because the whole notion of peremptory 14 challenge is contra to the idea of putting 15 people on the stand and making them explain 16 why. You strike people peremptorily because 17 you don't feel good about them as jurors, 18 because when you ask them a question they look 19 down or they look like they don't like your 20 client or they don't like your point of view.

21 And any lawyer, as you said, who has any 22 sense can always come up with some explanation 23 like that. What is the movant, then, going to 24 do, except to subpoena records or subpoena
25 notes and say, "Well, let me look at his jury

1 list and see what he wrote down by these 2 people." And the courts that have said that's 3 an invasion of attorney-client privilege and 4 work product, and so it doesn't make any sense 5 for us to do this.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, we 7 voted five to two --

8 MS. SWEENEY: Joe, I hate
9 Batson too.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: We voted five 11 to two to have a rule.

12 MR. LATTING: I understand we 13 did, but I'm speaking to the Court through the 14 record, so --

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Please, we 16 voted five to two to have a rule. Now, this 17 rule can be placed anywhere in this range.
18 That's what I'm trying to get at, is give the 19 committee some guidance as to where -- give 20 the subcommittee some guidance as to where 21 this Committee feels the rule should be 22 placed.

23 MR. LATTING: Let's place it as 24 far over as we can from --

25 CHAIRMAN SOULES: -- more

1 intrusive? Less intrusive of the peremptory
2 challenge practice? I think that's what we 3 have to tell the subcommittee, because as they 4 write a procedure they are either going to be 5 following certain case or common law logic or 6 different common law logic, so what do we do?
7 Rusty.

8 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Put it in 9 a comment.

10 MR. McMAINS: Well, the reason 11 that we voted to give them a rule is because 12 the trial courts are totally in the dark about 13 what to do. They know that they have to do
14 something, but they don't know what to do.
15 And we were trying to present something that 16 made some sense in light of the cases to 17 establish whatever the standard was, and 18 that's why it was to be more specific and not 19 less specific, because less specific doesn't 20 help them any more than the cases do.

21 MS. SWEENEY: The very first 22 original discussion two years ago was, you
23 know, you come in and voir dire along, you do 24 your strikes, and what happens? You know, 25 let's say opposing counsel strikes every

1 woman. The way you find that out under 2 current practice is the judge starts calling 3 the list, you get 12 men in the box, you look 4 at it, and you say, "Whoa, he struck all the 5 women. Judge, we need to talk to you."

6 The jury goes out in the hall, and they 7 come back in, and the judge has ruled that the 8 strikes were improper. Four women get put in 9 the box and four guys get taken out. And you 10 know, you're sort of telling the jury there's 11 something weird going on here, so that was the 12 genesis of it.

13 We've got to create something to tell the 14 court, well, don't do that. Do it -- you 15 know, let the -- before you put the jury in 16 the box, handle any Batson stuff that's going 17 to come up. That was one part for why we 18 needed a procedure.

19 Another part of why we needed a procedure
20 was what Joe has brought up. You know, you 21 don't want to get into a situation where 22 you're cross-examining them about what did you 23 and your client talk about.

24 So it -- you know, we need some guidance 25 for the Court. We need to at least get

1 something to the Supreme Court, and they can 2 decide if they want a procedure or they don't 3 want a procedure or whatever. But what we 4 need to know from you guys is what Luke said:
5 Do you want us to write just a little sort of 6 vague, you know, here is when you do it. Do
7 you want this level of specificity or do you 8 want more specificity?

9 Elaine drafted this because it was as 10 close to the cases as we could get, but it 11 left flexibility; such as, it says "race, 12 ethnicity, gender or other unconstitutional 13 basis," because those are the three that have 14 been specifically upheld, but there could be 15 more, as opposed to us trying to enumerate 16 what they might be.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Let's
18 give this 10 more minutes and then we're going 19 to shut it down and go to Bill Dorsaneo and 20 pick this up another day. Justice Duncan.

21 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: Well, to 22 me, once you decide you're going to have a 23 rule, you've got to provide for a hearing.
24 Once you're going to provide for a hearing, I
25 disagree with what Judge Brister is saying.

1 When this has gone up on appeal, there is no
2 harm analysis, so it is a very, very serious 3 point of error in any civil or criminal 4 appeal. How do you review a trial court's 5 ruling on the exercise of peremptory 6 challenges if there is no evidence before the 7 trial court? I don't know how you can do it.

8 I mean, you can say, you know, there are 9 some cases that say arguments of counsel as 10 officers of the court is the equivalent of 11 evidence. Whether you go with that line of 12 cases or not, it's a clearly erroneous, 13 analogous to an abuse of discretion standard.
14 What trial court doesn't abuse their 15 discretion if they make a ruling on a 16 constitutional challenge with no evidence?

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Alex

18 Albright.

19 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: I think
20 what Scott was saying is that he doesn't want 21 to have an evidentiary hearing at the race-22 neutral explanation stage; that is, when 23 you're first saying, when you're first 24 bringing it to the issue that you don't have a 25 hearing. You just say, "Okay, what is your

1 race-neutral explanation?"

2 And then if there is one, and the other
3 party wants to go further and have a hearing 4 or present evidence, then I think you do have 5 to have a hearing. It's just at this first 6 time that the objection is made when you first 7 get started, at that point he's saying, "I 8 don't want to have to have evidence."

9 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: How do you
10 make a prima facie case if you have no
11 evidence? Before you even get to the race-
12 neutral explanation stage of the proceeding, 13 the party that's challenging the exercise of 14 the peremptories has to put on proof from 15 which a trial court can reasonably conclude 16 that a prima facie case of discriminatory
17 purpose has been made.

18 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Well, you 19 do that through --

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, we 21 don't have -- our rule doesn't have to say 22 that. Our rule can say they make an 23 objection, and then it can say that the issue 24 is joined whenever the striking party gets up 25 and states his race-neutral reason. Then if

1 the objecting party wants to go on at that 2 point, you've got to have evidence. But up to 3 then you don't have to have any evidence,
4 because all that's doing is getting the issue
5 defined.

6 And if you ever have an evidentiary
7 hearing, you're going to have due process. It 8 doesn't make any difference at what stage.
9 You're going to have to have it at number one,
10 where the objecting party starts; or number 11 two, where the striking party responds; or you 12 have it at stage three. Judge Brister.

13 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
14 almost all of the stuff that's involved in 15 these hearings is judicial. It's quicker to 16 take judicial notice, because it's obvious. I 17 mean, think, now, you need to prove up what 18 color the people are. Okay. Now, you can do 19 that laboriously, or I can look out there and 20 take judicial notice of who they are.

21 The cases that find somebody is not 22 telling the truth on their race-neutral
23 explanations are all, correct me if I'm wrong, 24 Elaine, where they say, "Oh, well, I did it 25 because she was old," but there's somebody

1 else old of an opposite race that you didn't 2 strike. Again, those are quick judicial 3 notice kinds of things.

4 Plenary hearings are much more 5 cumbersome, slower, and from my review of the 6 cases, it's just going to be a more cumbersome
7 way of proving up things which are almost all 8 the judge could take a look and see and take 9 judicial notice of.

10 And the question is whether there's a 11 record of it. Now, we can swear everybody in, 12 which is what you would require us to do, and 13 this is going to create a tremendous amount of 14 gamesmanship, because not only can you slow
15 down and muck up the process for the people 16 that want to slow down and muck up what's 17 going on in the trial, I mean, this is going 18 to create a big expensive mess; plus just, you 19 know, when I'm mad at opposing counsel, I'm 20 going to try to suggest to the judge and maybe 21 to some of the jurors, if they're coming in 22 and -- you know, I mean, can I call the jurors 23 and ask them more questions in this 24 evidentiary hearing?

25 You know, this is going to be -- are we

1 going to start trying to prove opposing 2 counsel is a bigot in front of the judge and 3 perhaps the jury before we even start the 4 trial? I mean, this is crazy.

5 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: Maybe we 6 disagree on what evidence is. If the trial
7 courts in the Batson cases that I've had had 8 taken judicial notice of facts on the record, 9 I consider that to be evidence. But they 10 don't ever do that. It's more that they come 11 up -- the defendant will come up on appeal and 12 say, "Batson challenge. Here is my hearing," 13 and we've got a trial court and it's all been 14 real informal and real chatty and there's no 15 judicial notice. There's no indication in the 16 record of who was African-American, who was 17 Hispanic, who was Anglo, who was male, who was 18 female. And it's like, well, did the trial 19 court come to a reasoned conclusion? You 20 can't tell.

21 And it's a frightening thing to look at 22 reversing a murder conviction because you
23 can't tell what the trial judge did in a 24 Batson hearing. It's a frightening thing.

1 just tell the trial judge you've got to have a
2 record. I mean, on sanctions I know there's a 3 handful of appellate courts that require
4 plenary hearings, but the Texas Supreme Court 5 doesn't, and almost no -- the vast majority of 6 courts don't. They do require that the record 7 reflect why we did what we did. This is what 8 they did wrong; this is what I'm doing; and 9 this is why that makes sense; this is my 10 reasoning. That I can put quickly and easily 11 into the record, and you can review that. And 12 if the record doesn't have that and the rule 13 requires there to be a record on this stuff, 14 then you can reverse on that basis. But 15 that's a whole different animal from a plenary 16 evidentiary hearing which we don't require on 17 sanctions.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Chief Justice
19 Cornelius.

20 JUSTICE CORNELIUS: We review
21 an awful lot of these Batson matters, and 22 invariably in the cases that we review there 23 has not been a plenary hearing. But the 24 attorney states to the court his neutral 25 reasons, and the opposing attorney then

1 counters that with evidence of what the juror
2 said on voir dire, information from the juror 3 information cards, disparate treatment by the 4 lawyer who is accused of doing that; in other 5 words, they say, "Well, you say you struck 6 this lady because she's old, but here is 7 another lady that is just as old and of a 8 different race and you did not strike her."

9 That's the evidence on which we determine
10 whether or not there has been a Batson
11 violation. But it is not a plenary hearing, 12 and as far as I know there usually is not 13 testimony taken, just statements and the use 14 of what the juror said on voir dire, and of 15 course, that is evidence; and the jury 16 information cards.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Three 18 more minutes. Does anybody have anything else
19 to say? I don't know whether we've given 20 Paula much help to work on this.

21 MS. SWEENEY: Oh, I know
22 exactly where to go now.

23 Judge Cornelius, you're saying you all 24 are seeing a lot of civil Batson or criminal 25 Batson?

1 JUSTICE CORNELIUS: Criminal.

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: But the rules
3 I think under Edmonson --

4 JUSTICE CORNELIUS: And we are 5 talking about the civil cases here, aren't we?

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: But under 7 Edmonson it's the same. You have the same 8 problem or issues.

9 MS. SWEENEY: Yeah.

10 MR. LATTING: Edmonson being?

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It's the 12 Supreme Court case that applied Batson to 13 civil cases. Batson only applied to the 14 prosecutor in a criminal case. It was just 15 the prosecutor in a criminal case. That's all 16 Batson was about.

17 MS. SWEENEY: It also was 18 originally aimed at protecting defendants'
19 rights, not the jurors'.

20 Would the Committee be happy with this 21 alternative, that we stop at the stage of 22 saying to the Court that if there are Batson
23 issues, if there is any Batson challenge
24 raised properly, you know, if any party
25 contests a peremptory challenge, the court

1 shall hold a hearing and shall do so prior to 2 seating the jury, and stop there without 3 getting into the specifics of the ping-pong
4 match of who does what when and just leave 5 that to develop, or is that too far on the 6 light side? That's "Batson light." Is that 7 too light?

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: How many
9 agree with that? Show your hands. Nobody.

10 MS. SWEENEY: How many disagree
11 with that?

13 disagree with that?

14 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I need
15 to know, is this a plenary hearing or not?

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: No. I mean,
17 there are all kinds of summary judgment 18 hearings that are not plenary hearings. We've 19 got hearings all over the rule book that are 20 not plenary hearings.

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: This is 22 a plenary hearing.

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: What?

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: This
25 committee draft is a plenary hearing.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I know.

2 MR. McMAINS: But if you're 3 making a determination that there is no right
4 to a plenary hearing in a Batson challenge, 5 you are flying in the face of precedent in my 6 judgment.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Not in mine,
8 so I would respectfully disagree.

9 MR. McMAINS: I'm not saying 10 that you have to have one every time, but 11 there is a threshold at which you have to have 12 evidence under the Constitution.

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: The kind of 14 evidence that Judge Cornelius is talking about 15 qualifies as a plenary hearing, right?

16 MR. McMAINS: If you're saying,
17 "I'm not going to let you examine the other 18 side," if that -- then the question is on what 19 basis do you say, "You're not entitled to put 20 on evidence." What is your basis in the 21 Constitution or in any of the cases for saying 22 that I don't have the right to call the other 23 side when he stands up and says, "I have this 24 race-neutral reason," and you have no right to 25 cross-examination? Show me how that can

1 possibly be supportable in a Batson
2 challenge. And that's what the judge wants.
3 The judge would not want to have to allow that 4 to happen.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Privilege,
6 according to one case.

7 MS. SWEENEY: What did you say?

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Privilege,
9 according to one case, limits the right to 10 cross-examination.

11 MR. McMains: The most recent 12 reversal by the Corpus Christi Court of 13 Appeals in a Batson situation was in fact an 14 examination on the stand of the lawyer. And 15 the lawyer also testified on a race-neutral 16 reason, on several race-neutral reasons. But 17 then in response to the question "Was it a 18 factor?" and the answer, "Yes," reversed. And 19 that's the Supreme Court, Texas Supreme Court 20 basis. Is a factor. And the issue was 21 completely presented as to whether or not it 22 had to be the dominant factor or sole factor.
23 Our own precedent goes much further than the 24 U.S. Supreme Court does or ever has. And it 25 is one thing to say this is the main reason.

1 That does not meet any test at all in Texas.
2 The question is, was race a factor.

3 MS. SWEENEY: Luke, we're happy
4 to go back and work some more on this.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, I don't 6 think we've given you any help at all, but 7 time is up, so just sit on it and we'll try to 8 give you some help next time.

9 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Maybe 10 they can provide us the alternative, 11 peremptory or not.

12 MS. SWEENEY: Let us talk and 13 see if we can come up with some other 14 suggestions. We're not happy either. I mean, 15 you know, as a trial lawyer I don't like 16 Batson at all, but we've got to do something.

17 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Can I
18 just add, I'm a little concerned about also 19 adding "other unconstitutional basis," for 20 instance, creed. The latest criminal court's 21 was that ain't a ground for Batson. And does 22 this mean in civil? Certainly creed is an 23 unconstitutional basis for lots of things.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's got to 25 come out, because this Committee has already

1 voted that the grounds are not going to be a 2 part of the rule, and that's got grounds in 3 it. We voted not to put the grounds in, just 4 to put a procedure in, because we don't know
5 what the grounds will be next month. We don't 6 even know whether gender is going to be one 7 next month. Probably race will always be.

8 MS. SWEENEY: So you want us to 9 say something like an impermissible, just --

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES:
11 "Constitutionally impermissible" is what it 12 should read.

13 MS. SWEENEY: Okay.

14 MR. McMAINS: Well --

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Bill
16 Dorsaneo, let's pick up where you left off.

17 MS. SWEENEY: Thank you.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That closes
19 that discussion for this day and time.

20 Okay. Let's take a 10-minute break.

21 (At this time there was a 22 recess.).

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Where do we 24 start, Bill?

25 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: 33(b).

1                   CHAIRMAN SOULES:  And that's on 2                   what page?

3                   PROFESSOR DORSANEO:  Page 5.
4                   Now, we've covered discussion-wise 33 and 34
5                   which need to be considered together.

6                   The main point, if you have a rule book,
7                   is to look at Rule 41 of our Texas Rules, 8                   which was based on Rule 21 of the Federal 9                   Rules.  As I indicated last time, the 10                  subcommittee embraced the first sentence of 11                  Rule 41 and moved it into this proposed 33(b), 12                  "Miscjoinder of parties is not grounds for 13                  dismissal of an action."

14                 The subcommittee embraced but modified 15                 slightly the last sentence of 41(b), which 16                 says, "Any claim against a party may be 17                 severed and proceeded with separately," making 18                 that sentence say, "Any claim against a party 19                 who has not been properly joined may be 20                 severed," having matched the first sentence.

21                   HON. C. A. GUITTARD:  Has been 22                   improperly joined?

23                   PROFESSOR DORSANEO:  Yeah.  All 24                   right.  Who has been improperly joined.

25                   Now, with respect to that sentence,

1 because I'm going to be working through 2 Rule 41 to see if you want us to preserve any 3 other piece of it, with respect to that 4 sentence, and frankly, the last sentence of 5 Rule 41 -- I'll give you a true/false test.
6 Is this true or false? Any claim against a 7 party may be severed and proceeded with 8 separately. Whether that's true at the 9 federal level, that's false at the state 10 level. It's not a severable claim. And 11 that's why the severance subsection or 12 subparagraph or paragraph is added to Rule 34
13 based upon the Texas cases.

14 So in effect we've replaced the last 15 sentence of current Rule 41 with the new 16 sentence about parties improperly joined and a 17 section on severance in the rule which is now 18 Rule 173 concerning consolidation and separate 19 trials.

20 Now, let's look at 41, the rest of it, if 21 you have your rule books, and see if you agree 22 with the subcommittee that the middle part 23 should be dropped from the rule book in the 24 sense that that language would be dropped. It 25 says, "Parties may be dropped," okay, and we

1 deal with parties may be dropped in another
2 place, okay, and our current rule book does, 3 and frankly, as I indicated last time, this is 4 probably an inconsistency in our rules, and it 5 comes to a great surprise it me that non-6 joinder of parties means kind of like non-7 joinder parties, you know, by order of the 8 court ordering them dropped. Do you follow
9 me? It's kind of like unjoinder or dropping 10 "nonjoinder" in the title. I always thought 11 "nonjoinder" kind of meant not doing
12 something, but this nonjoinder is a 13 transitive --

14 MR. LATTING: A disjoinder.

15 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: -- verb in 16 this draft of our rule book and copied from 17 the federal book.

18 "Parties may be dropped or added."
19 Well, the added part, that's dealt with in the 20 other rules too, or is it? At least, the 21 circumstances under which somebody may be 22 added are dealt with in the permissive joinder
23 and compulsory joinder rules, and whether you 24 can -- and in the, you know, interpleader
25 rule, and in the joinder of additional parties

1 part of 97(f), plus we have separate rules on 2 when you can change your pleadings.

3 And part of what you can do when you
4 amend your pleadings is to add parties, drop 5 parties, right? So it seems to me that this 6 "parties may be dropped" as well as parties
7 may be added is unnecessary to be here.

8 Now, the rest of it, "or suits filed
9 separately may be consolidated, or actions 10 which have been improperly joined may be 11 severed and each ground of recovery improperly 12 joined may be docketed as a separate suit 13 between the same parties," is more 14 problematic.

15 I wonder why did somebody in 1939 think 16 the words "or suits filed separately may be 17 consolidated" need to be put in here? My best 18 guess, and it's just a guess, is that the 19 consolidation rule is located far away from 20 here. Okay. And somebody felt uncomfortable 21 about it being either far away or perhaps 22 nonexistent. So by treating consolidation in 23 paragraph 34(a) of this draft, I think we make 24 it unnecessary to say "suits filed separately 25 may be consolidated," because consolidation is

1           dealt with more explicitly in the proposed
2           Rule 34.

3           Where "actions which have been improperly 4           joined may be severed and each ground of 5           recovery improperly joined may be docketed as 6           a separate suit between the same parties," now 7           that, you say, well, we might could put that 8           in there somewhere, but if it's the same 9           parties, when are actions improperly joined if 10          it's the same parties? Maybe only in that 11          insurance company context that we talked 12          about, actions in a series and sequence, and 13          do we need to say that? See? I mean, it's 14          very limited circumstances when actions are 15          improperly joined.

16          And do we need to say about claims the 17          same thing we said about any claim against a 18          party who has been improperly joined? See 19          what I'm saying? I mean, it just kind of 20          seems an unnecessary thing to say, but I don't 21          mind saying it. You could put it in 34(c).

22          And then the final thing that is missing 23          that might be thought of as pertinent is the 24          timing. All of this is before the time of 25          submission to the jury, which seems

1           extraordinarily late to me, okay, or to the 2           court if trial without a jury on such terms as 3           are just, which seems extraordinarily 4           meaningless to me.

5           So you know, my suggestion is that we 6           don't need any of this stuff in the middle 7           here because it's covered elsewhere better and 8           more accurately. But some of it might could 9           be preserved without doing any real harm. I 10          would propose to put it in 34(c) when we're 11          talking about the severance part or putting it 12          in 34 somewhere else if you're concerned about 13          consolidation, et cetera.

14          And we would really just ask for guidance 15          on it. And I don't think that there is any 16          question in my mind that it's an improvement 17          to unify the subjects of consolidation, 18          separate trials, misjoinder of parties in the 19          same place in the rule book instead of having 20          it separated by more than 100 rules and dealt 21          with in two different places, and it cleans 22          things up a lot to me. But I'm not sure that 23          it couldn't be done better than this draft.

24          The last point on 34, one of the things 25          that happens when you put the subjects of

1 consolidation and separate trials in the trial
2 part of the rule book is that you don't talk
3 about it the same way. You don't say, as you 4 would likely say if you were earlier in the 5 book, upon motion, okay, actions involving a 6 common question of law or fact, you know, may 7 be joined. It talks about it from the 8 perspective of what the trial judge can do 9 without indicating how that gets started.
10 Okay? Because when you write it and you put 11 it in the trial part of the book, you're 12 thinking about the judge as being the one who 13 is doing things. At least, that's the way
14 these rule books are written.

15 Maybe we could improve this consolidation
16 and separate trials thing by referencing a 17 motion, but maybe that's just unnecessary, 18 see, since you can ask for anything that's 19 permissible by a motion.

20 So I just think I have presented 33(b) 21 and 34 and ask for any input or guidance on 22 the treatment of Rule 41.

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Let me
24 ask the first question. Does anybody see 25 anything after the first sentence and prior to

1 the last sentence of current Rule 41 that's 2 not covered in Bill's new proposed rules?
3 Justice Duncan.

4 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: It might be 5 covered by omission, but it doesn't have a 6 time limit on severance.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Time limit on 8 severance?

9 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: Yes.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

11 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: I gather,
12 Justice Duncan, that you think we need to put 13 a time limit on severance in this thing 14 somewhere?

15 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: Well, I
16 agree with your comment that before the time 17 of submission to the jury seems like an awful 18 late time in the proceeding at which to start 19 rearranging lawsuits and parties, so yeah, I 20 think maybe there is a point when we're going 21 to have, as I understand it from the discovery 22 rule discussions, there is going to be a point 23 at which the pleadings are supposed to be 24 finalized and people are supposed to be 25 preparing for trial on the pleadings as they

1 exist at a particular point in time. And it 2 seems to me that severance is an aspect of 3 pleading finalization and preparing for trial.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, I know
5 we've got that husband/wife loss of consortium 6 case out of the Supreme Court in the last 7 couple of years, but there can be some 8 circumstances where there can be a severance
9 at the motion for new trial stage.

10 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: What does 11 Rusty say?

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Rusty.

13 MR. McMains: Well, that's what 14 I was getting at too, though, is if you put 15 severance in as being limited to some 16 particular time, does that impair the ability 17 of the court to sever after verdict?

18 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: The 19 difficulty with our current rule book is that 20 by being liberal it's tried not to screw up.
21 It suggests that that's the proper time, which 22 is often too late, but not always. I don't 23 know whether it's good to talk about it. Just 24 let it happen when it's appropriate.

25 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. So

1 let's move, then, to your rule, because 2 apparently we're not losing anything other 3 than perhaps a time for severance that we may 4 or may not want to assign.

5 Nobody else sees anything that's missing
6 in the Dorsaneo rules, as I'll call them, 7 that's presently between the first and the 8 last sentence, is that correct? Okay. If you
9 do, call it to our attention. Otherwise, 10 Bill, let's go ahead and move to the new 11 proposed rules and see if they do what you 12 intend them to do.

13 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, 34
14 again is 174, Consolidation, Separate Trials, 15 with the addition of the sentence concerning 16 separate trials that appears in the current 17 rule book as 40(b), which is being replaced by 18 33, Permissive Joinder of Parties in this 19 draft. So the only thing that's done in (a)
20 and (b) is to move Consolidation and Separate 21 Trials from the trial part of the rule book 22 into the parties and claims part of the rule 23 book where it was already talked about, and to 24 take the two separate trial paragraphs and to 25 put them together without changing their

1 wording at all, and you know, that's the first 2 part of it.

3 The severance part is taken right from 4 case law. Obviously there is more case law 5 about severance than that, and it could be 6 made longer if you think it needs to say
7 more. But this at least says something 8 accurate as distinguished from, you know, any 9 claim may be severed; it says when severance 10 is appropriate under our case law.

11 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Bill.

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Judge

13 Guittard.

14 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: In 34(c)
15 we use the word "cause of action," which I 16 understand the rules committees have been 17 trying to get rid of since 1939 because of 18 some uncertainty of its meaning. I can't 19 offhand think of a good substitute for it, but 20 have you considered that problem? The idea is 21 to use the word "claims" and so forth rather 22 than "cause of action."

23 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: I think
24 the word "claim" could be used there, because 25 the Committee did not. The way -- this was

1 taken first verbatim from the Cotner opinion, 2 and then the introductory language was 3 adjusted. But the words beginning with (1), 4 without the numbers, "if the controversy 5 involves more than one cause of action," was 6 lifted right out of Supreme Court cases, and 7 that's the reason why it says that. It could 8 say "claim" without impairing the meaning, 9 because the next part talks about claim and 10 talks about a particular type of claim, one 11 that would be the proper subject of a lawsuit 12 if independently asserted, and that --

13 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: That 14 would be consistent with --

15 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: That's 16 sufficient.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: So is anybody
18 opposed to using the word "claim" instead of 19 "cause of action"? No opposition.

20 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: Bill, I 21 don't know if we want to get into this in the 22 rule, but there does seem to be an awful lot 23 of litigation recently on what constitutes a 24 claim.

25 MS. SWEENEY: What constitutes

1 a what?

2 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: What 3 constitutes a claim.

4 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: I think
5 not.

6 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: Fine with 7 me.

8 MS. SWEENEY: Can I ask you a
9 question too while we're asking questions?

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Paula.

11 MS. SWEENEY: Is there a rule
12 about how a severance is to be accomplished?
13 Because in the instances where I've been in a 14 severance situation, you know, you get one, it 15 gets pulled out and gets renumbered, and the 16 clerk is supposed to know how to do this, and 17 then certain parts of the file are supposed to 18 go with it, and it almost invariably gets 19 screwed up. Is that dealt with in here?

20 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Bonnie
21 Wolbrueck was going to be working on that in 22 connection with the clerks part of the book, 23 but I need to -- and she's on our 24 subcommittee. Let me just make a note here to 25 talk to her about that, because she was very

1 concerned about the mechanics of that and 2 making those mechanics uniform across the 3 state, if possible.

4 MS. SWEENEY: Because it almost 5 always involves having to go down and look 6 through the file yourself and finding the 7 right pieces of paper and handing them to the 8 clerk and say, "Here!" I mean, we need to do 9 better than that.

10 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: And also 11 providing notice to all of the parties through 12 their attorneys that there had been a 13 severance and what the new cause number is.

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well,
15 theoretically, at the time the case is 16 severed, you would have to copy the entire 17 district clerk's file and refile it in the new 18 cause, because everything up to that point is 19 in the common cause and everything from that 20 point forward may divert, but each arm of the 21 diversion relates back to what was in the 22 process before.

23 Of course, the parties themselves could 24 get together and agree that an abbreviated 25 record would work on down one path or for each

1 path. But at the time of severance everything 2 that's in the district clerk's file should be 3 duplicated and put in the new cause.

4 MS. SWEENEY: It can be pretty 5 hard to convince the clerk of that.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: You've just 7 got to pay for it. It costs a lot of money.

8 MS. SWEENEY: Yeah.

9 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Next?

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. It
11 does say in 41 that the severed cause shall 12 be -- let's see what it says so I won't --

13 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Docketed
14 as a separate suit.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Docketed as a 16 separate suit.

17 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Which is 18 the severed cause? They're both severed, 19 aren't they?

20 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: The last
21 sentence I took from Hall vs. City of Austin, 22 "A severance divides the lawsuit into two or 23 more separate and independent causes" which is 24 not such a happy of word, but --

25 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Cases.

1 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Cases,
2 yeah. Let me change that to "cases."

3 Do we need to say "docketed as 4 independent suits"? I don't think so, do 5 you?

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's just 7 speaking to, I guess it was Sarah's question, 8 what happens.

9 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Yeah.
10 I'll ask Bonnie about that too.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: One thing
12 that does happen is -- I think that one thing 13 that is clear is it has to be docketed as a 14 separate suit. Whether it gets an "A" or a 15 "B" or a new cause number or something, it 16 goes to a new cause number or whatever you 17 call it.

18 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Let me
19 coordinate this with Bonnie Wolbrueck and see 20 if she wants -- feels the need to say
21 "docketed as separate suits" or put it over 22 there, because she's working on it.

23 MS. SWEENEY: It does really
24 need to be specific, because every time -- I 25 mean, it's happened a lot of times to me, and

1 every time, especially if you then have an 2 appeal on top of it, it's just a nightmare to 3 find the right file, even down to the question
4 Sarah asked, which one is the severed one, you
5 know, and which one -- I mean, it just -- you 6 end up with partial records and you can't find 7 stuff, and that is something the clerk rules
8 really, really need to address.

9 MS. LANGE: Bonnie and I have 10 worked together on those rules, and we are 11 proposing to make it a separate number, 12 because you're right, in some counties they've 13 added an "A" or "B" or whatever and it's 14 confusing, so we're trying to get it written 15 where it will be uniform all over the state.

16 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Great.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Rusty.

18 MR. McMANS: I just wanted to 19 mention, the idea of putting it in a separate 20 number or doing it as a separate number, the 21 only problem with that is that the tendency 22 would be for the clerk to put it as a separate 23 number in terms of a new number, which means 24 that you have lost your age on the case. I 25 mean, immediately then, the way that they keep

1 everything, you now are a newly filed case,
2 whereas it may have been pending for six 3 years, which is why I frankly prefer the A and 4 B situation. Something needs to be in there 5 which basically said you would not lose your 6 status on the docket simply because you have 7 been divided into two.

8 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: I wish I
9 could do that. Well, let me go on to another 10 one.

11 Interpleader is the same as current 12 Rule 43, which was taken from Federal Rule 22
13 with minor textual changes, so I don't guess 14 we need to talk about that.

15 Class actions. Okay. There's a lot of 16 stuff we could do with class actions. All the 17 committee decided to do was to make our rule
18 more like Federal Rule 23 by eliminating a 19 separate category of (b)(3) class actions
20 which were retained in the class action rule 21 as it was changed in 1975, coming out of the 22 Court Rules Committee at the suggestion of 23 some of the members of the committee, from the 24 old class action rule, the so-called, you 25 know, hybrid class actions where the object of

1 the action is the adjudication of claims which 2 do or may affect specific property involved in 3 the action.

4 The committee believed that the federal 5 organization of (b)(1), (b)(2), (b)(3) actions 6 covers that case without the need to 7 specifically identify it separately.

8 And as an historical matter, my 9 recollection, which might be impaired, was 10 that that was retained because that was the 11 only kind of class action that Texas courts 12 thought to be appropriate other than 13 derivative actions before the modern era.

14 And for us to have a (b)(3) class action
15 that's different from the main (b)(3) class 16 action kind of makes us out of sync, and it's 17 frankly stupid.

18 MS. SWEENEY: What is a (b)(3)
19 class action?

20 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Pardon me?

21 MS. SWEENEY: What is a (b)(3)
22 class action, I'm sorry?

23 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, a 24 (b)(3) class action in common parlance is the 25 normal class action that you're thinking about

1 filing, the common question of law or fact.

2 MS. SWEENEY: You're saying you
3 just eliminated it?

4 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, in 5 our rule book the (b)(3) class action is where 6 the object of the action is the adjudication 7 or claims affecting specific property, which 8 could be a (b)(1), (b)(2) or (b)(3)

9 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Federal 10 (b)(1) or (b)(2).

11 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Federal 12 (b)(1), (b)(2). You know, it's already 13 covered, is what I'm saying.

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Texas (b)(3)
15 is redundant in federal -- Texas has (b)(1), 16 (2), (3), (4). Federals have (b)(1), (2),
17 (3). Texas No. (3) is redundant. Texas 18 No. (4) is the same as Federal No. (3), so if 19 we take out Texas (3), we'll track the federal 20 statute and won't be losing anything because 21 Texas (3) is redundant anyway, which I think 22 is what will Bill is saying.

23 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Right.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yeah, I think 25 that's right.

1                   PROFESSOR DORSANEO: And then
2 there are corresponding changes in the balance
3 of the rule to make it talk about (b)(1), 4 (b)(2), (b)(3), rather than (b)(1), (b)(2), 5 (b)(3), (b)(4).

6                   CHAIRMAN SOULES: And other
7 than that, it's the Texas rule?

8                   PROFESSOR DORSANEO: And there
9 are two other things. The effective date 10 provision in the current rule book, which 11 says, "Effective Date, This rule shall be 12 effective only with respect to actions 13 commenced on or after September 1, 1977," we 14 didn't think that was necessary to be 15 retained.

16                   And the derivative suit paragraph that 17 was injected into the middle of Rule 42 by the 18 Supreme Court has been moved to a separate 19 rule, Rule 37. The reason for that is that it 20 requires separate coverage in order to avoid 21 confusion about whether the remainder of 22 Rule 42 applies to derivative suits or are 23 they controlled by this paragraph, and they 24 are meant to be controlled by this paragraph 25 which came out of this Committee years ago and

1 was recommended to the Supreme Court as a cure
2 for the elimination of coverage of derivative 3 suits when the original 42 was adopted based 4 on Federal Rule 23.

5 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: So the 6 other provisions, for instance, 42(e) -- not 7 (e), 42(f) on discovery does not apply to a
8 derivative suit, is not intended to apply to a 9 derivative suit?

10 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Uh-huh.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Any 12 opposition to -- let me just start I guess 13 where we started today first at --

14 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: -- 33(b).

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. That's 16 unanimous consent.

17 34(a). Same. Unanimous consent.

18 34(b). No objection. That's unanimous 19 consent.

20 (c), severance, 34(c), any objection?
21 Unanimous consent.

22 We're changing "cause of action" to 23 "claim" in (b). We changed "not been 24 properly" to "been improperly." Also in 25 34(c), we changed "causes" to "cases" in the 1 very last word.

2 Any objection to 35? There's none.
3 That's unanimous consent.

4 36?

5 MS. SWEENEY: I'm sorry, I
6 didn't -- on 35, we didn't really go over it
7 in great detail. Are there any substantive 8 changes?

9 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: There are 10 no changes at all.

11 MS. SWEENEY: Okay. Thank you.

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: So all in 13 agreement on 35? Okay. We all agree.

14 36, class actions?

15 MS. SWEENEY: And you're 16 representing that 36 really makes no
17 substantive changes either, Bill?

18 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Yes.

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Unanimous
20 consent to 36.

21 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Paula, now
22 that you mention 35, we're going to go back 23 and take the gender out of it. There's a "he" 24 in there, at least one.

25 MS. SWEENEY: Kill him off.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: All right.
2 Now we get to 37. Any objection to 37?

3 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: I might 4 add on 37 that Mike Prince is not here, but 5 the Evidence Committee is -- and his firm is 6 working on this to see if we need to do
7 anything else on the derivative suit rule 8 including whether we need to have a rule like 9 Federal Rule 23.2, actions relating to 10 incorporated associations, which we don't 11 have. And so this isn't completely finished.
12 The only thing being considered -- none of 13 this is, but --

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, I don't 15 understand what you mean by "none of this is."

16 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well --

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: You're
18 talking about 37?

19 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: I take 20 that back. I'm talking about 37, yes.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. We're 22 going to vote on 37, and if you all decide 23 that you want to do something more or less or 24 different, bring it back to us.

25 MR. LATTING: Well, can you

1 tell me what you just said about derivative
2 suits and discovery on this? You mentioned 3 something about --

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, 42(b)
5 and 42(c) -- Texas Class Action Rule 42(f)
6 says unnamed members of a class action are not 7 to be considered as parties for purposes of 8 discovery.

9 MR. LATTING: And what does 10 that have to do with derivative suits?

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It doesn't
12 have anything to do with derivative suits. It 13 does not apply. That's what they've done.

14 Okay. Any objection to 37?

15 MS. SWEENEY: Yes.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Paula.

17 MS. SWEENEY: I don't know.
18 What have you done to it?

19 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: We've 20 moved it.

21 MS. SWEENEY: That's it? No
22 substantive change?

23 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Right.

24 MS. SWEENEY: Okay by me.

25 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Unanimous

1 consent. No objection to 37.

2 Now we're to 38.

3 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Rule 38 is 4 very different from our rules. 38 is the 5 federal rule modified by leaving some things 6 out. Our rules don't say anything about when 7 intervention is appropriate. Our rules also 8 say you intervene subject to being stricken.
9 We decided that it would be better to have the 10 federal rule where you move to intervene, and 11 you have a right to intervene when you have a 12 right to intervene, and it's subject to the 13 court's discretion where intervention is 14 merely permissive.

15 MR. LATTING: What's the idea
16 of a mandatory trip to the courthouse, when 17 the way we do it now is that if you want to 18 intervene you simply intervene and if someone 19 doesn't like it then that party moves to 20 strike you? Why are we abandoning that 21 laudatory practice?

22 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well --

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Where is 24 intervention now, what rule?

25 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: 60.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: 60.

2 PROFESSOR DORSANE0: And I
3 could -- I mean, I don't think there's a 4 particularly good answer to your question.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That was the 6 change that was made in 1990, to eliminate the 7 need for a motion.

8 PROFESSOR DORSANE0: What?

9 MR. LATTING: Well, let's don't 10 do it then.

11 PROFESSOR DORSANE0: We never 12 had to have a motion for that.

13 MR. McMains: We've never had 14 to.

15 PROFESSOR DORSANE0: Now, I
16 could say, you know, there is -- which statute
17 is it now, Rusty, that -- the venue statute 18 operates on the basis that there is a motion, 19 and so it's kind of --

20 MR. McMains: It operates on 21 the basis that there's an order allowing it.

22 PROFESSOR DORSANE0: Which 23 would suggest a motion. And we just -- you 24 know, the committee just thought it was better 25 to do it this way.

1 MR. LATTING: Well, the 2 plaintiff, who decides who is going to be the 3 original parties to the suit, doesn't have to 4 file a motion or do anything. Just A sues B.
5 And then if C says, "I need to be in this 6 fight too," he just comes on in. And if 7 somebody doesn't want them, then they can ask 8 the judge to kick him out, but I think our 9 practice is much better than the federal 10 practice. If it saves going down to the 11 courthouse, it saves money for the litigants.

12 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, that 13 would be one issue as to whether you want to 14 leave it the same way or --

15 MR. LATTING: I would. It
16 works just fine.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, let's
18 take a consensus on it. Motion or no motion?
19 The issue can be joined every time, because 20 you can't get in without a motion; or it could 21 be joined sometime, and that's when people 22 object; or you just walk in and nobody 23 objects, you're there, no motion, no hearing.

24 MS. SWEENEY: Well, I agree
25 with Joe, if you want for us to tell you what

1 we think.

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. For 3 intervention, should there be a predicate
4 motion? Those who say there should be a 5 predicate motion in order to intervene show by 6 hands. Two.

7 Those opposed. Seven.

8 So there will be intervention without a 9 motion. And "subject to being stricken," is 10 not the right word, because it should be 11 subject to being severed. Suppose you 12 intervene on the last day of limitations and 13 you're struck out. It's really -- so that's 14 what you need to do. Fix it to say "subject 15 to to being severed."

16 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: So the 17 adjustments are easy to make. Take out in (a) 18 "upon timely motion" right at the beginning.
19 Take out in (b) "upon timely motion." And 20 we'll leave the procedure to the procedure 21 paragraph, paragraph (c).

22 Now, this is the second issue, which you
23 may not want to do this either, but I'm more 24 confident that you will, which is do we want 25 to talk about when intervention is

1 appropriate, or do we just want to leave that 2 to somebody to figure out that that's 3 appropriate if you're a proper party or if -- 4 and it's really appropriate if you need it for 5 just adjudication.

6 And you know, the committee believes that 7 intervention as a matter of right matches up 8 to the Texas rule, current Rule 39 and that 9 this works together; that intervention as a 10 matter of right is when in effect, to use the 11 old parlance, you know, a necessary party who 12 might be regarded as indispensable.

13 The same parallel language that you just 14 approved a minute ago without thinking about 15 it is from Federal Rule 19, Texas Rule 39.
16 Okay. Who knows why we didn't -- who knows
17 why they didn't adopt Federal Rule 24 to begin 18 with? Probably because of the point that we 19 just fixed would be my guess, but the 20 standards ought to be here.

21 But these are all the standards in the 22 federal rule which match the other federal 23 rules that were embraced by the Texas Supreme 24 Court years ago or that have been changed to 25 follow evolving changes at the federal level.

1           Permissive intervention is a slight bit 2 trickier than mandatory intervention because 3 of the way the thing could be interpreted.
4 And maybe we need a sentence, and I haven't 5 finished working on this, and Rusty said maybe 6 we need a sentence about insurance companies 7 not being permitted to intervene, if that's 8 the case law; that an insurance company is not 9 permitted to intervene, if it wanted to, to be 10 a party in an action against its insured.

11                   HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Do you
12 have that taken care of in another rule?

13                   PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well --

14                   CHAIRMAN SOULES: You've passed 15 me up. I didn't get that.

16                   PROFESSOR DORSANEO: One of the 17 by-products of not talking about when 18 intervention is appropriate in the rule book 19 is it's just not talked about. And the 20 general approach in the cases is that 21 sometimes you have a right to intervene, and 22 that's under the circumstances indicated in 23 (a), and other times it's permissive. But the 24 permissive stuff is, you know, really pretty 25 unclear to me, beyond saying that it's when

1 you would be a proper party and the court can 2 exercise discretion even if you're a proper
3 party when the intervention will unduly delay 4 or prejudice the adjudication of the rights of 5 the original parties.

6 MR. LATTING: It doesn't seem 7 to me that we ought to be addressing this in 8 the intervention rule, because this is really 9 a question of the properness of parties and it 10 doesn't really have that much to do with 11 intervention, does it?

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yeah, it 13 does.

14 MR. LATTING: Because the same 15 question be would be faced if they were an 16 original party.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, except 18 that you've got new issues here.

19 And I need to back up because I was 20 getting -- have you got in your notes that you 21 are going to write a procedure for severance 22 if the intervention is denied?

23 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: No. What
24 I'm going to do is take that paragraph, take 25 Rule 60, and put it in there. Any party may

1 intervene by filing a pleading, period, and 2 and then write the procedure and replace 3 "stricken" with the severance concept.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Whatever you
5 do, you've got that in mind?

6 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Yeah.

7 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: And that 8 will apply to (b) as well as (a)?

9 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And in the 10 last sentence of (b) you've got "In exercising 11 its discretion, the court shall consider 12 whether the intervention will unduly delay or 13 prejudice the adjudication of the rights of 14 the original parties." There you're talking 15 about the discretion to sever at that point?

16 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Uh-huh.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And the 18 reason --

19 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: That may 20 need to be changed just a little bit too then.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And the 22 reason it's a new issue is, other than the 23 original formation of the parties is you've 24 got someone who has injected themselves into 25 the lawsuit, and shouldn't we speak to that

1 circumstance?

2 MR. LATTING: Well, I don't 3 know. I'm thinking about it. You may be 4 right, but I just don't know.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It seems to 6 me there's a difference, but there may not be.

7 MR. LATTING: Well, then maybe
8 not.

9 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It's 10 certainly a change in the architecture of the 11 lawsuit.

12 MR. LATTING: Yeah. But I
13 don't know why you wouldn't be facing the same 14 essential question, if those, say, three 15 parties had been original parties and one of 16 them says, "This party ought not to be in this 17 place. It's adversely affecting my rights and 18 the contravention of law."

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, let's 20 see --

21 MR. LATTING: "And I want to 22 sever it or have a separate trial."

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, let's
24 look at the grounds for severance and see if 25 there's anything there about undue delay. Is

1 this a new ground for severance that's 2 particularized to intervention?

3 And then I'll get to you, Justice
4 Duncan. I've just got this on my mind here
5 and I want to try to look it up.

6 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Pages 5 and 7 6, Luke.

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Joe, the 9 severance rule doesn't really speak to undue 10 delay and prejudice of an intervention.

11 MR. McMAINS: It can't.

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It can't?

13 MR. McMAINS: If you filed it
14 at the same time, then what are you delaying?
15 It's all one thing. It started at the same
16 time.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It's probably 18 an essential circumstance, and you'll need to 19 address it.

20 MR. LATTING: The delay part?

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Right.

22 Okay. Bill, so that when you --

23 MR. McMAINS: Luke.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: -- when you
25 consider it -- Rusty.

1 MR. McMains: Does the 2 intervention rule as we've currently proposed 3 it, does it have a service requirement?

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: We have other
5 rules that require service and the service
6 could be by certified mail.

7 MR. McMains: Well, but I just 8 a lot of times -- I think historically we have 9 treated interventions as being they show up 10 and they don't actually serve it.

11 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Yeah. And 12 frankly, that's screwed up. The case law -- 13 there's one case that says there needs to be 14 service.

15 MR. McMains: Yes, I know. And 16 that would be my impression, particularly if 17 it's a new claim. But what I'm concerned 18 about partly is that if we do not have 19 specific provisions for service, then what 20 we're saying is that what happens is that once 21 you commence the lawsuit this way, all that 22 happens, if somebody challenges you, is you 23 get severed.

24 Basically, obviously, when the people
25 have come in, they have appeared, so you no

1 longer need service. The people that are 2 opposing you come in and say, "I object to his 3 being here," and they say, "Fine," and you're 4 in this other lawsuit and it's ongoing. You
5 don't have to do anything else. It's there.

6 Now, that frankly is not the way our 7 procedure works now necessarily, and -- 8 because we -- I mean, we do have -- in fact, 9 our rule currently says "subject to being 10 stricken" and we do have interventions that are 11 stricken.

12 MS. SWEENEY: And I also have 13 concerns along those lines. In the current 14 rule you can intervene subject to being 15 stricken, but the way you draft it in (a), the 16 Intervention as a Matter of Right, that 17 intervenor, the way that's drafted, if they 18 have a statutory right, they could intervene a 19 week before trial, screw up your whole 20 setting, and this doesn't give the court any 21 leeway to tell them, "Sorry, you're too late, 22 you're in a separate lawsuit" or whatever.

23 Under existing law, since it says subject 24 to being stricken, there's been some 25 protection for the litigants to say, "Hey,

1 don't come in and screw up my lawsuit in the 2 last week," and at least the court has some 3 discretion to exercise there. This seems to 4 tell the court you don't have any choice, you 5 have to let them in, with no concern for 6 timing and so on.

7 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: I think
8 that's an excellent point. And I think that 9 sentence about discretion, which also is in 10 the last part of Rule 37, as Judge Brister
11 pointed out, needs to be worked in. I think 12 this needs more work.

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Justice
14 Duncan.

15 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: That was my 16 structure point, is I think the first sentence 17 of (a) and the last sentence of (b) need to be 18 segregated out into the first section. And 19 then after we talk about intervention
20 generally, then we talk about it as a matter 21 of right or permissive. But in fact, both are 22 permissive in the sense that the court would 23 have the discretion to strike them in 24 appropriate circumstances.

25 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: I don't

1 like "as a matter of right" now. It's 2 borrowed from the federal, but I think it's 3 not really quite as a matter of right. It's 4 kind of quasi-right.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Alex
6 Albright, and then I'll get to some of these 7 others.

8 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Once
9 somebody has intervened and they become a 10 party, then the party then has discretion to 11 deal with the lawsuit as if they were a party 12 to it originally and they can sever out or try 13 things separately or whatever as justice may 14 require. But we may want to make it clearer.
15 I think Paula is right that this makes it 16 sound like you've got to do this and it has to 17 be together, and there's nothing to keep you 18 from doing that.

19 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Our rule
20 is silent, the federal rule is not as good as 21 it should be, and we need to work on it to 22 make it better.

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And what 24 about a Rule 21a method of service in an 25 intervention?

1 MR. LATTING: Meaning?

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: 21a.

3 MR. LATTING: Remind me. You
4 have to have actual service or just --

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: No.

6 MR. LATTING: Okay.

7 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: If we're 8 rejecting this federal language in some cases, 9 what do we gain by using any federal language 10 rather than using our existing rule?

11 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, we 12 already have that federal language in our 13 rules on compulsory joinder of parties. I 14 mean, what I think we're rejecting is this 15 concept that it's a right. Okay? But you 16 know, maybe -- and I don't know whether we 17 need -- when a statute confers an 18 unconditional right to intervene, I don't know 19 if there is any -- I guess there may be some 20 workers' comp statutes or subrogation. There 21 are some statutes -- I don't know of any such 22 statute myself. I had no particular statute
23 in mind when I copied this federal language.
24 Okay? Maybe it's unnecessary to say that.

25 But this wording, Claims an interest

1 relating to the property or transaction,
2 subject of the action, the so situated,
3 disposition of the action may as a practical 4 matter impair or impede ability to protect 5 that interest, that is already our standard 6 for when somebody is needed for just 7 adjudication. I mean, that's the standard.

8 MR. McMANS: But the 9 difference is that this is the person who is 10 needed which the parties don't want in. And 11 you know, I sympathize with the notion that we 12 don't want the lawsuit getting screwed up, and 13 we want the parties to be able to control 14 their lawsuit, but this is giving the right in 15 a mandatory sense to the people who, if the 16 parties were seriously attentive to the absent
17 party's interests, somebody would have raised 18 the issues. And those parties have due 19 process rights with regards to whether or not 20 they're going to be bound by this judgment 21 insofar as a particular race or property is 22 concerned. I mean, that's what the "persons 23 needed for just adjudication" is all about.

24 So if somebody is taking a tract of land
25 and they are essentially ignoring other people

1 who have some kind of contingent interest in 2 it and those people want to be heard, I'm 3 sorry that it screws up your lawsuit, but I
4 think that they have a right.

5 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, if 6 they should be regarded as indispensable, they 7 probably have a right, but I think this is 8 maybe a lesser group than that. And I think I 9 need to work on this some more.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Justice
11 Duncan.

12 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: In response
13 to your comment that you weren't thinking 14 about a particular statute, the situation of 15 an adoption comes to mind when the biological 16 father intervenes. You know, "unreasonably 17 delays" I think has to be taken in context.
18 And what might be an unreasonable delay in a 19 commercial litigation or two related contracts
20 situation might not be at all unreasonable 21 when you're talking about someone's parental 22 rights.

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It doesn't
24 say delay. Unreasonably delay.

25 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: Right.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: So it may
2 be --

3 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: What I was 4 going to suggest is that the first sentence be 5 the first sentence, not a part of a subpart;
6 the second sentence of (b) be the second
7 sentence. Then we define "intervention"
8 generally. And then all really (a) and (b)
9 are are grounds for intervening. It's not 10 that any one of them is as a matter of right.
11 They're all permissive, but they're different 12 grounds for intervening.

13 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Now, there 14 may be a right, but that really would be 15 covered by our 39(b) when somebody is regarded 16 as indispensable when they really have to be 17 there; otherwise, they're -- Rusty.

18 MR. McMANS: Luke, I have one
19 other -- and you're talking about rewriting 20 this, and I don't know whether there would be 21 much disagreement with this notion on the 22 committee, but with regards to the -- what the 23 effect of an intervention that is then -- 24 whether it is stricken or severed, let's just 25 say that you want to deal with it in the 1           notion of severance. The problem I have is,

2           okay, that's a separate lawsuit. It's now
3           commenced. It's commenced theoretically, I 4           suppose, against whomever it is that goes 5           along in the severance. The parties who are 6           dragged along there need to know exactly what 7           happened. I mean, is this a new lawsuit that 8           they now have a right to answer from a certain 9           time as of the date of the severance? Do they 10          have a right to make the venue challenges that 11          they would ordinarily make as of the time of 12          the severance?

13                 I mean, these are -- you are screwing 14          around in my judgment with some views of the 15          legislature when they passed the venue 16          changes, if you say that we're going to avoid 17          the intervention problem which gives a right 18          to interlocutory appeal by simply severing.
19          Okay?

20                 So they're over there and that's a new 21          lawsuit. And the defendants are saying, "Wait 22          a minute, I can't appeal this," because it's 23          not really an intervention because it didn't 24          happen or it happened and it went away. Now 25          I've got to do something. Do I file a venue

1 plea initially? Do I have a right to file a 2 venue plea initially? When do I have the 3 right to do that? These are things that 4 affect that legislation.

5 And my personal judgment is that if you 6 file an intervention in a claim, if you're 7 talking about the same race of the subject 8 matter of the claim, they have an interest in 9 there, that really is properly an 10 intervention. And I'm not sure that -- you
11 know, then the notice provisions don't bother 12 me as much because everybody knows that 13 subject is involved.

14 If it's somebody who is merely involved
15 in the same transaction, that's a different 16 deal. That's a new lawsuit, and there ought 17 to be service a la an ordinary lawsuit service
18 and an opportunity to answer, make venue 19 claims and so on.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Justice
21 Duncan.

22 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: We just had
23 this come up in a modification of child
24 support --

25 MS. SWEENEY: Speak up, please.

1                   HON. SARAH DUNCAN: We just had
2 this come up in a modification of child
3 custody visitation order, and there was a 4 biological mother who was being told by the 5 trial court that she could not attack venue
6 and get venue moved to the child's principal 7 place of her residence, and it just got all 8 screwed up, and it's not really covered 9 anywhere what happens when someone intervenes 10 and what their rights are relative to the 11 other parties and the subject matter of the 12 lawsuit.

13                   MS. SWEENEY: Are you 14 suggesting someone ought to be able to 15 intervene in a lawsuit and then move it?

16                   HON. SARAH DUNCAN: If it 17 involves a child whose principal residence is 18 somewhere other than the lawsuit, yes. That 19 is by virtue of the Family Code.

20                   MS. SWEENEY: Okay. Other than 21 children, as a general rule?

22                   HON. SARAH DUNCAN: I'm not 23 trying to provide any answers. I'm just 24 saying there are a lot of questions that arise 25 when there has been an intervention.

1                   CHAIRMAN SOULES:  But isn't 2                   that a jurisdictional question?  That's more 3                   than a venue issue.  If the child has been 4                   someplace else for six months, then the 5                   original court doesn't have jurisdiction 6                   anymore.

7                   HON. SARAH DUNCAN:  They have 8                   continuing jurisdiction until jurisdiction is 9                   transferred elsewhere.

10                  CHAIRMAN SOULES:  But it's a 11                  mandatory transfer of jurisdiction.

12                  HON. SARAH DUNCAN:  It is a 13                  mandatory transfer.

14                  CHAIRMAN SOULES:  Of 15                  jurisdiction?

16                  HON. SARAH DUNCAN:  Of venue.
17                  I'm not trying to say what I think the answers
18                  are on any of this.  I'm just saying that I 19                  think intervention is more complicated than 20                  the one-sentence Rule 60 currently suggests, 21                  and I think that we might could address some 22                  of those complications.

23                  CHAIRMAN SOULES:  Okay.
24                  Anything else for Bill as he moves to rewrite 25                  this?

1           The only other thought I have is should 2           it say "when an applicant claims an interest 3           relating to the property, transaction or 4           occurrence"? I guess transaction and 5           occurrence are two different things, but we 6           use them all the time in different ways, and I 7           guess there's a reason for that.

8                       PROFESSOR DORSANEO: There's no
9           reason.

10                      HON. SARAH DUNCAN: But they 11           are different.

12                      PROFESSOR DORSANEO:
13           Historically the word "transaction" -- you 14           know, we think of transaction as being 15           business and occurrence as being -- 16           transaction as being contract and occurrence 17           being kind of tort, but really the historical 18           development is that the word "transaction" is 19           the word and "occurrence" is kind of a species 20           of transaction, so why anybody ever said
21           transaction or occurrence probably has to do 22           with them being lawyers.

23                      CHAIRMAN SOULES: Or maybe on 24           insurance policies.

25                      MR. McMANS: Transactions

1 aren't covered in insurance policies.

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: All right.

3 Well, bad idea.

4 Let's go to 39 now, then. We've kind of 5 got our minds drained on this for Bill, and we 6 can fill them up and drain them again next
7 time.

8 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: This is 9 tricky, but what this is, in our current rule 10 book we have a series of rules copied without 11 change, and perhaps thought, from the Revised 12 Civil Statutes of 1925, beginning with 13 Rule 150 and going through Rule 156, and 14 these rules are covered in Rule 39 in one
15 rule.

16 And just to go through it, 39(a) is 17 Rule 150 plus more. 150 now says, "Where the 18 cause of action is one that survives" -- it 19 says "which survives," but I changed it to 20 "that" -- "no suit shall abate because of the 21 death of any party, but may continue as 22 hereinafter provided." Okay. Now, that is 23 all on 150.

24 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Do you
25 want to substitute "claim" for "cause of 1 action"?

2 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Yes.

3 "Where the claim is one that survives, no 4 suit shall abate because of the death of any 5 party." And Rule 150 says, "thereto before 6 the verdict or the decision of the court is 7 rendered." Why in the hell does it say that?

8 PROFESSOR CARLSON: It must be 9 too late then.

10 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: But if it
11 doesn't abate, it doesn't abate after the 12 verdict or decision of the court is rendered.

13 MR. McMAINS: Well, we have 14 another rule in our current rule book that 15 deals with how you deal with that.

16 MS. GARDNER: It's the death.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: What's that, 18 Anne?

19 MS. GARDNER: It's the timing
20 of the death, not the timing of the abatement 21 before verdict or decision.

22 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Oh, yes.
23 Okay. I need to put that back in there. Who 24 took that out of there?

25 151, Death of Plaintiff; 152, Death of

1 Defendant -- I'm going to apologize to the 2 Committee, I don't think I'm ready to present
3 this 39. I need to work on this more.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: We'll revisit
5 it.

6 MS. SWEENEY: May I make a
7 suggestion when you do?

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Paula.

9 MS. SWEENEY: The rules talk
10 about a "suggestion of death" as though that 11 meant something. There is nothing out there 12 that tells you what it is, how to do it, where 13 to get one, what it looks like, what to file.

14 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Look in 15 the Litigation Guide.

16 MR. McMANS: There's one in 17 his Litigation Guide.

18 MS. SWEENEY: Yes, I know.
19 I've been there. But it might be you could 20 take a page from your Litigation Guide and 21 make it part of the rule.

22 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, I
23 think these rules need more consideration, and 24 I didn't realize I changed them so much in the 25 task force draft that I'm not really ready to 1 present them. This is messy, and we'll try to 2 make it make sense.

3 MR. LATTING: Could you think
4 about maybe calling it a notification of death
5 instead of a suggestion? It sounds like "drop 6 dead" or something.

7 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Or "I 8 suggest that he die."

9 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well,
10 let's go to this unnumbered rule, "Voluntary 11 Dismissals and Nonsuits."

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Where is that 13 now?

14 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: That's on 15 page 12, the last rule. Now, this is based on 16 Rules 162, 163 and 165.

17 All right. Now, 162 in the current rule 18 book begins, "At any time before the plaintiff 19 has introduced all of his evidence other than 20 rebuttal evidence, the plaintiff may dismiss 21 the case or take a nonsuit, which shall be 22 entered in the minutes."

23 The draft says, "At any time before the 24 plaintiff has introduced all of the 25 plaintiff's evidence other than rebuttal

1 evidence, the plaintiff may dismiss an entire 2 case or dismiss the case as to one or more of 3 several parties."

4 That adjustment in language is a partial 5 embrace of Rule 163 which talks about under 6 the circumstances when it's appropriate the 7 plaintiff may dismiss the suit as to one or 8 more of several parties, the idea being that 9 we can say it all in one place that you can 10 dismiss an entire case or dismiss the action 11 as to one or more of several parties at any 12 time before the plaintiff has introduced all 13 of the plaintiff's evidence other than 14 rebuttal evidence.

15 MS. SWEENEY: There is a
16 distinction that I recall between a dismissal
17 and a nonsuit and the effect of that. There 18 is at least a case or cases out there that say 19 dismissal is different from a nonsuit; and 20 that a nonsuit is something that you 21 absolutely have a right to do which results in 22 no prejudicial effect and you just kind of 23 quit; whereas dismissal can potential have 24 some sort of prejudicial effect such as being 25 considered a dismissal with prejudice, and

1 that by asking for a dismissal you give -- if 2 I say, "Your Honor, I move for a dismissal," I 3 give the court power at that moment to say,
4 "Yes, but it's with prejudice." If I say,
5 "Your Honor, I take a nonsuit," it's over.

6 Did the subcommittee intend to obliterate
7 that distinction? Because the word "nonsuit"
8 is gone from sentence 1.

9 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, I
10 don't like to use the word "nonsuit."

11 MS. SWEENEY: I do.

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I think 13 plaintiffs do in general.

14 MR. LATTING: Yeah. If we're 15 going to change it, though, we ought to debate
16 it, because she's right. It's clear that you 17 don't prejudice yourself by taking a nonsuit.

18 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, you
19 shouldn't prejudice yourself by taking a 20 voluntary dismissal either. I mean, that 21 would be --

22 MS. SWEENEY: But if you say
23 that word you give the court, under -- there's 24 a case out there that does that, because I've 25 had it stuck in my ear before. Well, I'm

1 not -- you know, this is a giant change.

2 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: There
3 shouldn't be such a case, I guess would be my 4 reaction.

5 MR. LATTING: We have the right
6 to correct that, and we ought to address that.

7 MS. SWEENEY: Okay.

8 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: I mean, we 9 need to take the attitude that there are not 10 good cases and bad cases, only cases, but I 11 think that's a bad case.

12 MS. SWEENEY: Yes, it is.

13 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: How can 14 you dismiss something and have an 15 adjudication? That's the problem.

16 MS. SWEENEY: A dismissal with 17 prejudice.

18 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: It sure
19 would surprise me if I wanted to voluntarily
20 dismiss something and the judge said, "Well, 21 guess what, you've voluntarily dismissed it
22 with prejudice." That can't be right.

23 MR. LATTING: Well, couldn't we 24 add a comment to that? If there is a case 25 sitting out there, it seems to me that we

1 ought to suggest to the Supreme Court that --

2 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, I
3 can use the word "nonsuit" in here, but you
4 know...

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: How many want 6 the rule to include the word "nonsuit" show by 7 hands? Seven.

8 How many opposed to that? No one opposes 9 it, so we use the word "nonsuit."

10 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Okay.

11 MR. McMAINS: The current rule 12 uses both.

13 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: "May 14 dismiss a case or take a nonsuit." I really 15 think that if those are two different things, 16 then that's unfortunate, especially if one of 17 them is something you don't want.

18 MR. LATTING: Well, I would not 19 be opposed to changing the rule if you would 20 say in a comment that we don't think that 21 they're two different things. It might make 22 more sense in drafting to do it that way, but 23 I don't think we ought to take the word 24 "nonsuit" out and then not address what --

25 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, you

1 can see I didn't exactly completely take it
2 out. I just kind of don't like it.

3 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: It's a
4 suggestion of deletion.

5 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, let 6 me get this one, at least this one important 7 point that the committee needs guidance on, an 8 innovation. Look at the second and the third 9 sentence which should begin with a capital "N" 10 of this (a). "Omission of a party from the 11 pleadings does not result in a dismissal of 12 the action as to the omitted party," with the 13 next sentence indicating how the nonsuit is 14 taken. "Notice of the voluntary dismissal of 15 an entire case or as to one or more of the 16 parties must be filed separately from the 17 pleadings," and then the proviso comes from 18 Rule 165, "provided that a party who abandons 19 any part of a claim or defense contained in 20 the pleadings may have that fact entered of 21 record during a hearing or trial to show that 22 the matter was not tried."

23 We're trying to help people from 24 inadvertently blowing their brains out.

25 MR. LATTING: Yeah. That's a

1 great rule.

2 MS. SWEENEY: Yeah, that is a
3 good rule. Bill, you say --

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Paula.

5 MS. SWEENEY: -- that the party
6 who abandons the claim can enter it into the 7 record to show that it wasn't tried. Is -- do 8 you want any party to be able to do that, as 9 opposed to just the abandoning party?

10 MR. McMAINS: No. A party can 11 only abandon his own claim. You can't have 12 somebody else abandon your own claim. Most 13 defendants would like that --

14 MR. LATTING: Yeah, I'd like to 15 do --

16 MR. McMAINS: But not under --

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: The court
18 reporter can't make a record of this. Let's 19 speak one at a time, please.

20 MS. SWEENEY: I agree with 21 Rusty that defendants cannot abandon my claims 22 for me. But if I have abandoned one and we 23 try the case, we didn't ever try the contract, 24 breach of contract part of the case or the 25 fraud part of the case, then at some point can

1 any party under -- since this is a new 2 process, can any party say, "Well, I want it 3 on the record that that was never done," or is 4 this a specific abandonment procedure that 5 you're creating that would only vest in the 6 abandoner?

7 MR. McMANS: Well, this is in 8 the rules now. This is Rule 165.

9 MS. SWEENEY: It is?

10 MR. McMANS: And all it is is 11 a preservation. It is an ability to stand up 12 at trial and say, "I don't want to go forward 13 on my gross negligence pleading."

14 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Yeah,
15 rather than filing a notice of voluntary 16 dismissal.

17 MR. McMANS: Right, that's 18 what it is.

19 MS. SWEENEY: Okay. Forget I
20 said anything. Thank you.

21 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Rule 165
22 now is -- it's kind of -- it's really unclear
23 as to how that is integrated into this, so 24 we're trying to make it clearer; that if you 25 do it by notice or if you're at a hearing or

1 trial you can just do it.

2 JUSTICE CORNELIUS: Bill, that 3 omission sentence is very awkward and 4 difficult to understand. It ought to read 5 something like "Dismissal is not effective as 6 to a party omitted from the pleadings," or "as 7 to a party not listed in the pleadings."

8 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: I'll try
9 to write a better sentence.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Amended
11 pleadings?

12 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Now, the 13 rest of it, (b) and (c), is the second 14 unnumbered paragraph of Rule 162, I believe, 15 verbatim, but put in a different order.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, before
17 we go there Bill, I don't think a party
18 enters. Do you see that place? You say a 19 party who abandons -- oh, may have that fact 20 entered of record. Okay. Go ahead and go to 21 (b).

22 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: (b),
23 Avoidance of Prejudice, that title is put in 24 there, but that is taken right from the 25 beginning of the second paragraph of 162.

1 "Any dismissal pursuant to this rule does not 2 prejudice the right of another" -- well, it
3 says "an adverse party" in Rule 162. I 4 changed it to "another." (Continuing) -- "the 5 right of another party to be" -- adverse 6 party, another party -- "to be heard on a 7 pending claim for affirmative relief, excuse 8 the payment of costs taxed by the clerk," and 9 then this last part, "or authorize a party to 10 prosecute an action without the joinder of a 11 principal obligor, except as provided by 12 statute," comes from 163, which at the tag end 13 of it says, "but no such dismissal shall in 14 any case be allowed as to a principal obligor 15 except in the cases provided for by statute."

16 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Isn't that 17 the rule that we just took out?

18 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well,
19 yeah. I'm not through with that either, those 20 other rules we -- we didn't take -- those 21 other rules we talked about that I need to 22 justify eliminating, if we're going to 23 eliminate them, which will be part of the next 24 discussion of this.

25 So it's an amalgamation of the first part

1 of 162 with an embrace of some of Rule 163
2 which has already been put in paragraph (a),
3 the rest of it.

4 The Effect on Sanctions' Motions is 5 verbatim. "A dismissal under this rule has no 6 effect on any motion for sanctions, attorney's 7 fees or other costs, pending at the time of 8 dismissal as determined by the court. Any 9 dismissal pursuant to this rule which 10 terminates the case authorizes the clerk to 11 tax court costs against the dismissing party 12 unless otherwise ordered by the court."

13 Okay. So that (c) is verbatim; (b) is I 14 think essentially verbatim; (a) is an 15 amalgamation of 162 and 163. And finally, 16 unless somebody thinks it needs to be in 17 there, the language in 162 that says "Notice 18 of the dismissal or nonsuit shall be served in 19 accordance with Rule 21a on any party who has 20 answered or has been served with process
21 without necessity of court order" is deleted 22 on the thesis that any paper needs to be 23 served under 21a. It's not necessary to say 24 that, but Mr. Chairman, if you want me to put 25 that back in, I will.

1                   CHAIRMAN SOULES: Let me check
2 it first.

3                   MR. LATTING: I've got another 4 question to raise about the effect on 5 sanctions. I'm not sure that this is 6 consistent with the rule we just passed on 7 sanctions having to do with the effect of a 8 dismissal on sanctions orders.

9                   And it seems to me that what we, what the 10 Committee as a whole did was to pass a rule 11 that said that sanctions orders do not survive 12 a dismissal -- no, what am I thinking of -- 13 that a court cannot institute a sanctions 14 order after a dismissal, a voluntary dismissal 15 or nonsuit by a party that was not pending at 16 the time. I know we addressed that issue.

17                   And it seems to me that under 18 Transamerican that there's a question that a 19 sanctions order can be carried out after 20 dismissal if it doesn't have to do with 21 something that would be pertinent to that 22 litigation. That is, for example, if a court 23 made a monetary order for failing to come up 24 with evidence in a case, a monetary fine, if 25 you will, and the party who was the offending

1 party dismissed the case and it was over with,
2 I'm not sure that that sanction can any longer 3 apply.

4 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well, we 5 need to know --

6 MR. LATTING: I'm not sure that 7 this would agree with that.

8 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: We need to 9 know from your subcommittee and from what this 10 Committee has already done about this subject 11 whether this needs to be here to begin with 12 and what it needs to say. And we do need to 13 integrate that, and I just had forgotten that 14 there was any coverage of this at all in your 15 subcommittee.

16 MR. LATTING: We addressed it,
17 and it may be under Rule 13 under the new 18 Rule 13 that we wrote, but it's something 19 we've already passed and sent to the Court.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Would you get 21 that to Bill, Joe?

22 MR. LATTING: Yeah.

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Joe will send 24 it over to you.

25 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: We need to

1 get it, because it's been rumored that Rule 13
2 has been rejected.

3 MR. LATTING: That's okay with
4 me.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Is that
6 right, Rule 13, they're not going to pass
7 Rule 13? Are they going to change it or 8 what?

9 MR. PARSLEY: I didn't start
10 that rumor.

11 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: The chief
12 justice was passing that around at a CLE
13 meeting the other day.

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: What are they 15 going to do?

16 MR. PARSLEY: They're going to 17 defer to the legislature, as opposed to pass a 18 rule that arguably conflicted with the 19 legislative enactments.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: So they're 21 going to repeal our Rule 13?

22 MR. PARSLEY: There's nothing
23 in the book --

24 MR. McMANS: It says "Rule 13, 25 see legislature."

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

2 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: So we may 3 need to --

4 MR. LATTING: Okay. Well, I'll 5 get in touch with you.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Now, in 7 responding to your question about 21a service, 8 21 requires notice for a pleading, plea, 9 motion or application to the court for an 10 order. So if a nonsuit is one of those 11 things, then it's covered by 21a anyway. If 12 it's not through 21 and if it's not one of 13 those 21 things, then it's not covered by 14 Rule 21a.

15 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: All right.
16 I'll take it back and try not to be too 17 innovative.

18 Now, since yesterday -- question?

19 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: No, I was 20 just going to ask if you've considered -- with 21 that Effect on Sanctions Motions, did you 22 consider putting effect on summary judgments?

23 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: No. What
24 should we -- I would be happy to consider it.

25 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: Well, the

1           Hyundai case is saying that a summary judgment
2 is not vitiated by a nonsuit.

3                   MR. McMAINS: Well, there is a 4 case that makes that point.

5                   CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's the 6 Hyundai case. That's the one she's talking
7 about. Plaintiff who suffered an adverse 8 summary judgment who then nonsuits, the 9 summary judgment becomes a dismissal with 10 prejudice, defers to a dismissal with 11 prejudice.

12                   MR. McMAINS: But I'm not sure 13 that -- I mean, that's a case in which the 14 entire claim, you know, against that party
15 gets determined by summary judgment. I mean, 16 I'm not sure if, for instance, you get a 17 partial summary judgment, what is the effect 18 of that?

19                   CHAIRMAN SOULES: If you leave 20 some --

21                   MR. McMAINS: I mean, I have 22 difficulty figuring out exactly how you write 23 that in the rule.

24                   MS. SWEENEY: But he's right.
25 If you have a partial summary judgment granted

1 and you nonsuit the whole lawsuit when you
2 come back the next year --

3 MR. McMAINS: Well, you can 4 take the position that "I got the summary
5 judgment and therefore I win."

6 MS. SWEENEY: Yeah. But that's 7 not covered in the existing rule either.

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's 9 right. That's not covered in the existing 10 rule.

11 MS. SWEENEY: I do have a
12 covered-in-the-existing-rule question, though, 13 Bill. The rule now provides two things. One 14 is that when the nonsuit notice is issued or 15 if you take a nonsuit, it shall be entered in 16 the minutes right then. That's it. Nothing 17 else happens. And also that it occurs without 18 the necessity of a court order. You don't 19 have to have an order granting your nonsuit.
20 You just utter it. And then this -- that's 21 all been dropped, and it is substantively
22 important in my view.

23 The first paragraph of 162 is where I'm 24 at.

25 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: I

1 understand. It's just the "docketed" is -- 2 "entered into the minutes" is in there. The 3 other is just case law. Maybe it does need to 4 be spelled out.

5 MS. SWEENEY: Well, "without 6 necessity of court order" is also in there.

7 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Oh, okay.

8 MS. SWEENEY: The last
9 paragraph -- the last sentence, the last line 10 of the first paragraph of existing Rule 162.

11 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Yes.
12 "Without the necessity of court order," that 13 does need to be in there. Do you think 14 "entered in the minutes" needs to be in 15 there?

16 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Don't you
17 really mean, isn't what you want is that it's 18 effective immediately? You don't care whether 19 it's entered in the minutes really.

20 MS. SWEENEY: That's true. It
21 needs -- I guess that's what I'm saying. Alex 22 is right. The drafting needs to embody 23 existing procedure in law, which is that the 24 nonsuit is effective upon notice and no court
25 order is required. Nothing else is required.

1 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: I've got 2 to add "without necessity of court order," add 3 "immediately effective," and try to spell
4 that out. I apparently exhausted myself in 5 trying to make this match Rule 41 as revised 6 and didn't get it all finished.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Also 8 shouldn't we just go ahead and spell out that 9 it can be done by a document served or orally 10 in open court?

11 MS. SWEENEY: Yeah. That would 12 be nice.

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Because the 14 old rule really contemplates something being 15 filed, and that's not what's required always.

16 MS. SWEENEY: That's true.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: If it's done
18 in open court on the record. Don Hunt.

19 MR. HUNT: Isn't there a
20 Supreme Court case, and I know there's a court 21 of appeals case, that says that when one files 22 a voluntary nonsuit that eliminates part of a 23 claim and makes a prior judgment final, that 24 for purposes of counting you have to have an 25 order signed? Now, aren't we about to build

1 in some problems here by keeping this?

2 There ought to be another way to address
3 the problem that Paula raises without messing 4 with either the case law or the timetable. We 5 ought to be able to provide for some kind of a 6 procedure by which a party, presumably a 7 plaintiff, who wishes to take a nonsuit to be 8 able to voluntarily do that without prejudice, 9 and somehow to make it effective immediately
10 and to start the appellate clock that requires 11 some notice and requires some opportunity to 12 be heard if there is prejudice involved.

13 I don't know how you would put all those 14 together, Bill, but I think there is a problem 15 there with respect to the appellate 16 timetables.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, really,
18 Don, that's two different things.

19 MR. HUNT: I know it.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: What's at 21 play as to the effective moment of the nonsuit 22 is, if you have to wait for an order, the 23 defendant may have already put on some 24 testimony at which time the plaintiff's right 25 to a nonsuit is gone. So it's got to be --

1 and the appellate case only -- it's restricted
2 to what happens after a nonsuit that starts 3 the appellate timetable running. It has 4 nothing to do with when the nonsuit is 5 effective, so what we're working with here is 6 at the time that the nonsuit becomes effective 7 as a nonsuit.

8 MR. HUNT: Well, I understand
9 that.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And then do
11 you think we ought to put something in there 12 about a written order starts the appellate 13 timetable?

14 MR. HUNT: No. As long as he's 15 drafting it, let's try to cure the problem.
16 Let's try to make it a uniform rule, and if 17 there's some sort of a way to include both --

18 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: I'll try
19 to deal with that. I need to reject that.
20 Let me -- oh, Judge Guittard.

21 HON. C. A. GUITTARD: Suppose
22 the court makes a venue transfer order and 23 then there's a nonsuit. I understand the law 24 to be that that would govern any subsequent 25 suit, and perhaps that ought to be included

1 here as an exception too.

2 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Maybe.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Justice
4 Duncan.

5 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: I was also 6 going to suggest, you know, we've got that one 7 final judgment really means a one final 8 judgment rule now, and we might, in line with 9 what Don was saying, we might want to clarify 10 that while a nonsuit may be effective when 11 made, there are going to be some other 12 considerations as to when you've got a final 13 judgment under Rule 300(b).

14 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Okay. And 15 I think that's just about as much guidance as 16 I can absorb on this. Carl.

17 MR. HAMILTON: One other thing, 18 if we're going to continue the nomenclature of 19 voluntarily dismissals and nonsuits, if 20 they're different, let's explain why they're 21 different in the rule.

22 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Paula,
23 maybe you can help me find that case so I can 24 castigate it, repudiate it.

25 MS. SWEENEY: The bad case, the

1 case that shouldn't be there?

2 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Yeah. And
3 let me go back to the beginning of this rule 4 book. I thought -- and this involves some 5 guidance that I need, and I wanted to ask 6 Sarah Duncan about Rule 33. Should Rule 33 be 7 added to the first rule in this package, 8 paragraph (a), Real Party in Interest? It got 9 left out because I didn't think it was 10 necessary and the committee didn't either.
11 "Suits by or against a county or incorporated 12 city, town or village shall be in its 13 corporate name."

14 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: Why are you 15 asking me?

16 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well,
17 because you --

18 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: I asked the 19 question yesterday, was it the Committee's 20 intent or purpose to delete all these other 21 rules, and was the Committee satisfied that 22 all these other rules weren't needed? I don't 23 know.

24 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Okay.
25 Well, I thought in representing, you know, the

1 City of San Antonio, that that experience over 2 time would have had some -- it never occurred 3 to me you would sue a city, you know, like 4 Alamo City -- you know, Bill Dorsaneo vs.
5 Alamo City. It didn't occur to me that I
6 would use its common business -- does 7 San Antonio have an assumed name?

8 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: I don't
9 know why it would matter. I mean, if you sue
10 the City of San Antonio and you serve the City
11 of San Antonio, what does it really matter
12 what you call the City of San Antonio?

13 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well,
14 that's what I'm asking. That sentence would 15 fit nicely in the Real Party in Interest rule, 16 which would just say if you're suing a county 17 or city, you have to sue it in its name, its 18 real name, not just some common name, not some 19 assumed name, assuming they had one.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Does anybody
21 have anything else that they want to bring 22 before this Committee?

23 Our next meeting is when, Holly? It's 24 July 19th from 8:30 to 5:30 and July the 20th 25 from 8:00 until noon. I'm told that's the --

1 or is it September that we have a problem?

2 Somebody told me we'll have a problem
3 with hotels. September is the UT/Notre Dame
4 weekend, the same weekend we have our meeting, 5 so you need to try to get your lodging
6 arranged early.

7 Thank you very much. We are adjourned.
